London Times Credits Japan With Honesty In Latest Note

SEES DEFECTS

Calls Authority Of The Peking Government Only Nominal

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 10.—Commenting on the Chinese reply to the Japanese memorandum, The Times says that the implication is that whereas Japan desired to have the question settled before the Washington Conference, the Peking Government determined to keep it open and bring it before the Washington Conference for judgment.

The situation thus created, says The Times, is very unsatisfactory. All credit must be given to Japan for her desire to settle difficult outstanding questions before the Conference, thus facilitating the discussion of general principles.

Two defects in the Japanese offer, the journal proceeds, are, first, the inexpediency on the eve of the Washington Conference of attempting to solve the Shantung question by direct negotiations with the Chinese Government, whose authority is only nominal, particularly in view of the confused state of public opinion in China, and, secondly, the fact that the offer to restore Shantung is accompanied by the proposal for joint Sino-Japanese control of the railway, which was immediately seized upon by a section of the Chinese as indicating Japan's desire to maintain a hold over Shantung.

FINANCE IN SHANTUNG

Peking, October 8.—Financial conditions in the Province of Shantung are in the worst possible shape, according to a correspondent in Tsingtao, and the Provincial Government is drifting on in a state of complete bankruptcy. The Provincial treasurer is unable to obtain funds from the magistrates, and in any case the funds available to the Provincial Treasury are insufficient for both civil and military expenses, without reference to the outstanding indebtedness of the Province which is long over due.

In March of this year the Financial Commissioner reported the outstanding indebtedness of the Province at approximately $10,000,000 (Chinese currency) including Japanese loans contracted some years ago and repeatedly extended, amounting to $4,400,000, short term Chinese loans of $3,250,000, and Treasury notes outstanding approximating $1,900,000.

The task of the Financial Commissioner has been unenviable, one Commissioner was bodily driven from his office by irate members of the Provincial Assembly because he was not a native of Shantung, another managed to retain office only by appointing a number of members of the Assembly to positions in his office.

The financial situation of the Province appears hopeless, the Tuchun and Acting Civil Governor stresses this financial predicament constantly as the reason for the weakness and failure of his administration. But he has lost caste generally and his old popularity has rapidly faded.

Keep Hands Clean On Canal Tolls Urges McCumber

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Oct. 9.—Senator McCumber (republican) has joined the opposition to the Borah Bill, which aims at allowing American ships to pass through the Panama Canal free of tolls, arguing that the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty did not give America the right to exempt coastwise vessels and that the assertion by Congress of such rights was dishonorable. He declared: "We have invited the other great nations to join in a solemn compact to check the mad race for naval supremacy."

CONGRESS IS ASKED TO AID IN FUNDING ALLIES' DEBT

Treasury Head Urges Need Of Early Action And Wants Free Hand

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Oct. 7.—The question of funding nearly ten billion dollars worth of Allied war debts to the United States was raised today by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon before the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives.

Mr. Mellon urged that Congress should take early action and give him the fullest authority to conduct the funding negotiations at the earliest opportunity. The indebtedness of one Allied nation to another, he said, must also be considered. In other words, America must co-operate with the other creditor nations in arranging a plan of settlement. The governments of Europe, which owed about nine-tenths of the total debt, would in a year be in a condition to pay interest, none of which had yet been collected. No foreign government, Mr. Mellon added, had suggested the cancellation of its debt since 1919.

Mr. Mellon deprecated the deferring of funding legislation until after the Washington Conference. Several members of the committee objected to the placing of such vast power in the hands of one man.

HAND OVER MAN IN SHOOTING CASE FOR TRIAL TODAY

French Police To Turn Over Japanese; Pavitch In Critical State

M. Mioka, the Japanese charged with shooting M. Pavitch following an altercation at the home of the latter, 114 Avenue Joffre, last Saturday noon will be handed over to the Japanese authorities to be placed on trial today. The prisoner was also wounded in the affray but his injury is slight.

Pavitch is still in a critical condition at St. Mary's Hospital and it is thought that his chance of recovery from the wound in his abdomen is slight. Dr. H. Fresson, who is attending him, stated last night that though the patient was doing as well as might be expected and seemed a little stronger yesterday, the issue must remain in doubt for several days.

The French police are still endeavoring to discover what led up to the shooting, both men having shown a marked reluctance to say anything of the affair. It is believed that the transaction which they met to discuss had to do with arms, but nothing definite regarding the matter has been established.

Meetings And Procession Mark Local Celebration Of National Festival Day

Twenty Thousand March In Colorful Lantern Parade Through French Concession; Reception At Bureau Of Foreign Affairs

Shanghai was in festival array yesterday as the Chinese community celebrated the anniversary of the founding of the Republic. Receptions and patriotic meetings at various of the schools and government offices marked the day and as a colorful climax over 20,000 persons marched through the French Concession last evening in a monster lantern procession which wound its way through tremendous crowds of watchers.

The streets were gay with flags throughout the Settlements and in Chinese territory, the tramcars and many motor cars carried the national colors and many hongs were elaborately dressed with bunting and were illuminated with lanterns and electric light displays as soon as darkness fell. Many of the principal streets, particularly in Frenchtown along the line of march of the parade, were flanked with long lines of colored Chinese lanterns.

There was a reception yesterday morning at the Bureau of Foreign Affairs which was attended by Chinese and foreign officials. Part of the program included the review of the Chinese company, S.V.C. by Mr. Hsu Yuen, Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, a representative of General Ho Feng-ling and others.

Later in the morning three thousand Chinese Boy Scouts gave a program at the West Gate Recreation Ground, singing the national anthem and rendering the salute to the flag.

THOUSANDS PARADE

Last night's lantern procession was participated in by representatives of seventy organisations and was one of the most impressive things of its kind which has been held in some years. There were hundreds of decorated floats and motor cars in the line of march. The parade started on Rue Lafayette, the marchers proceeding to Rue Amiral Bayle, Avenue Edward VII, the French Bund, Ming Kuo Road, Fong Ban Jao, Tai Ping Ka to the West Gate, thence to Ta Moo Dou, through the big East Gate to the Chinese Bund and through the small East Gate to the old drill ground.

Most of the celebrating of the day took place in the foreign concessions, the Chinese City being under martial law and no demonstrations being permitted there.

ADDRESSES STUDENTS

Sounding the note of optimism and calling upon his hearers to regard rather China's growing industrial strength and unification than pessimistic reports of political strife and corruption, Mr. Verne Dyson, foreign advisor of Williams College, addressed a gathering of more than a thousand students and visitors yesterday afternoon when the college observed the national festival day.

"China deserves congratulations and high praise for two concrete achievements since the

RATE WAR IS FORECAST IN CUT FREIGHTS OF U. S. SHIPS

Slash Cost Of Cartage Fifty Percent From Egypt To N. Y.

NEW MOVE ON

London Learns That Big Buyers Are Urged To Aid In Campaign

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Oct. 8.—Shippers of Egyptian cotton at Alexandria have been offered a rate to American ports ten shillings under the rate fixed by the British Shipping Conference.

The above announcement seems to foreshadow an Anglo-American freight war, according to a statement made by the British Shipping Conference and published in London which says that because British shipping lines refuse to give up the entire American rights under their long-standing contract, the United States Shipping Board contemplates a ruinous competition between ports other than American.

The statement declares that British lines recently offered the Shipping Board a half-share in the direct sailings from Alexandria to America, but this was refused.

The Washington correspondent of the Times says it is believed that American shipping interests, besides the fifty percent cut in the carriage of Egyptian cotton against Liverpool shipping lines, intend to press American consignees to refuse delivery unless the cotton is brought in American bottoms.

No Acid Test For Jade And Filing It Is Expensive

By Elsie McCormick

My very first memory of school, outside of taking a kitten to class, concerns a heavy green bracelet which we proudly told the rest of the class was jade and which the teacher finally wouldn't let us wear because it banged so hard on the desk. If we remember rightly, we finally traded it off to another little girl in return for a jumping-rope and a bag full of buttons that she had culled at leisure from the family wardrobe.

Since coming to China, however, and pricing two little green globules in a bed of white cotton, we are rather sorry that we traded off that bracelet as we did. We should at least have held out for a second bag of buttons. Of course, the fact that the bracelet chipped every time it struck anything harder than blotting-paper might have hurt its social standing in the eyes of a connoisseur. But then it was quite as good jade as many of the specimens for which travelers overdraw their letters of credit in the Far East.

A cynical botany professor once responded to a question of ours by remarking that the only way to tell the difference between a mushroom and a toadstool was to eat the specimen in question. If you lived, it was a mushroom; if you died, it was a toadstool. The only trouble with this system was that the knowledge wouldn't do you any future good. We don't remember hearing in Sunday-school that there are any mushrooms in Heaven.

THIS TEST SURE

There are elements of similarity in the test for telling good jade from a clever imitation. The only certain method is to apply a file. If it files readily it is probably as false as the seal on a spy's passport; if the filing requires a little real pressure, the jade is more likely to be genuine. There are few shopkeepers broad-minded enough, however, to beam benignly on the gentleman who produces a file and starts to work on a vase or necklace. Taking the object home after purchase and practicing on it in the privacy of one's boudoir is rather an expensive evening pastime. Thus jade usually keeps the secret of its past until the point in the third act when the villain strides in, picks it off the mantle, and hisses, "Good Lord, man, you didn't pay real money for that, did you?"

Of course, ascertaining that the article is real jade doesn't prove very much. We could demonstrate even without trying to file him, that the dog next door is a real dog and not an imitation, but that fact wouldn't win him any ribbons at a bench-show. There is wonk jade just as there are wonk canines.

The best jade, according to Chinese connoisseurs, is the translucent apple green variety of even color and without traces of murkiness. A short string of perfectly matched beads will retail for the unassuming little price of $10,000 up. The encyclopedia, we noted recently, calls jade a semi-precious stone. We have never felt the same toward the encyclopedia since.

TRADITIONAL FAREWELL

This little whiff of statistics recalls to mind the remarks made by kind friends while we stood with one foot on the gang-plank and the other mixed up somehow with the fruit in a steamer basket.

"Oh, by the way," said the k.f., "while you are over there, get me some jade, won't you? I'd like a string of beads and a bracelet, and there a man I know who has an awfully cute little jade god. Just get them and let me know how much, and I'll

STEAMER IN DISTRESS IS SUNK BY ONE BRINGING AID

Five Passengers And 13 Of Crew Drown In Irish Sea

IS STRUCK TWICE

First Collision Is Not Serious, Second Crumples Her

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 9.—The Laird Line steamer Rowan, from Glasgow to Dublin with 37 crew and 56 passengers, sank off the west of Scotland after a double collision. Twenty-four of the crew and 53 passengers were saved, but two of the latter died subsequently.

The disaster occurred in a dense fog at the entrance to the Firth of Clyde. The Rowan was badly damaged in the first collision with an American vessel and sent out wireless calls for help. She then collided with the Clan Malcolm, which was one of the steamers that responded to her distress signals, and foundered.

Later.—The collision with the West Comak (the American steamer with which the Rowan first collided) was not serious, and it was expected that the Rowan would reach port, but ten minutes later the Clan Malcolm, hurrying to her rescue at full speed, struck the Rowan amidships, tearing a great gash on her side. The Rowan crumpled and sank like a stone. A wild scramble ensued, and an attempt to lower the life-boats was unsuccessful, most of them being swamped. One of the ship's officers actually jumped on board the Clan Malcolm when the ships collided. Passengers and crew were flung into the water, where they struggled for life-belts and rafts. The task of rescue was impeded by the fog and darkness. The destroyer Wrestler helped to rescue the survivors, many of whom were exhausted by their immersion, two dying after being picked up. The captain stuck to the bridge and went down with the ship.

S. MANCHURIA RY. SAID TO WANT A LOAN FROM U. S.

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Oct. 8.—Officials of the South Manchurian Railway are stated on the best authority to be in negotiation with American financial interests for a loan on the security of the railway. The amount and purpose of the loan are not stated, but it is known that the negotiations are the result of a visit paid this last summer to the Anshanshan Steel Works by a group of American engineers who had been invited out by the S.M.R. authorities to give expert advice as to the running of the works.

In well informed circles it is said that the proposals for an American loan on the S. M. R. are based on Japanese political motives, as it would be greatly to Japan's interest to have American capital invested in Japanese enterprises in South Manchuria in the event of political or international disturbances in, or affecting, that territory.

Another version of the loan proposals, from good Japanese sources, is that the S.M.R. is a good investment and would attract American capital. As Japan sincerely wishes to co-operate with America in Far-Eastern business ventures, she could take no better way of proving her sincerity than by offering American capital a chance to make a loan on this security.

FRANCE IS HAPPY OVER NEW PACT WITH GERMANY

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 8.—In contrast to the strenuous opposition to which Franco-German negotiations have throughout been subjected by French nationalists and manufacturers, the signing of the Loucheur-Rathenau protocol, mentioned yesterday, is hailed by the French press today as the most important step yet taken towards repairing the ruin of devastated France.

It has been suggested by both French and British critics that France was going behind the backs of the Allies in negotiating directly with Germany in order to secure more than she would have done under the Allied reparations scheme.

The Figaro today, replying to these charges, says it might be retorted that France is more ruined than the Allies, but the fact is that France will not benefit as compared with the Allies unless Germany should cease all payments after 1926, and it is for Great Britain to see that such a breach of the treaty does not occur.

French newspaper correspondents in Berlin forecast the speedy abolition of military sanctions and quote Dr. Rathenau as saying that the agreement marks the beginning of the economic reconstruction of Europe and the World, and Chancellor Wirth as declaring that Germany is ready to conclude a similar agreement with Great Britain.

NOW TRUST GERMANY

St. Nazaire, Oct. 9.—M. Briand, who was accompanied by six members of the Cabinet, stated in the course of a speech that the French Government had confidence in the present German Government.

Referring to the problem of fluctuating exchanges, M. Briand dwelt on the paradoxical situation whereby Germany benefited by the economic competition throughout the world, while the peoples whose rate exchange was highest found even in their wealth causes of impoverishment. He expressed the hope that the great financiers of the world would recognise the necessity for settling the situation, which would never find complete equilibrium unless worldwide solidarity were brought to bear.

Striking Inspectors Given Dismissal

The dismissal of thirty-eight Korean tramway inspectors who went on strike September 24 have been dismissed from the employ of the company and their names have been stricken from the list according to announcement by Mr. Donald McColl, general manager, yesterday.

The company's statement declares that the men struck without warning, submitting, two days later, certain demands which it was impossible for their employers to meet. The men were given two days in which to reconsider and resume work and the period of grace ending Sunday, their names were struck from the list.

IRISH DELEGATES NOW IN LONDON

London, Oct. 8.—Messrs. Arthur Griffith, Barton, Gavan Duffy and Commandant Duggan, the Sinn Fein delegates to the London Conference, arrived in London this evening.

Mr. Michael Collins will join them on Monday, thus completing the delegation. They were met on the platform by delegates of the Irish Societies of Britain, headed by the Irish papers. They were enthusiastically greeted by the dense crowds outside the barricaded station.

Meetings And Procession Mark National Holiday

founding of the republic," Mr. Dyson said in part. "They are:

"First, the extensive and unheralded industrial development. Second, the wide-spread interest in cosmopolitan education.

"Here we have two national elements of tremendous importance which must and will endure until political turmoils have passed away. The mind and the brawn of the real China are sound and are diligently at work. The politics from which she is suffering is only a skin disease.

"You will be astounded if you make a study of present-day commercial growth in China. This is a 'sign of the times' which speaks unfalteringly of hope and a better day. While the militarists and politicians and their stage hands hold the eyes of the world on their drama of waste and death, innumerable Chinese of wealth are showing faith in themselves, in their republic and in the future commercial prosperity of the world by investing vast fortunes in modern industrial plants, such as: Flour mills, cotton mills, oil mills and egg-drying establishments.

INDUSTRY AWAKENED

"Considering the surface conditions of the country, the Chinese capitalists are showing a patriotism so admirable that it borders on the heroic. You will have an impressive lesson if you take a ride in a sampan from the Garden Bridge up Soochow Creek for two or three miles.

"A surprising number of factories, several of them just completed, line both banks of the humble stream. You will see the largest flour mill in China, the model vegetable oil mill of the Far East, cotton mills, one of the leading chemical plants of the country.

"Similar industrial development may be observed at Woosung, Pootung and in the Yangtszepoo district. Yet, very few people in Shanghai are aware these enterprises exist or have the slightest conception of their meaning and promise.

"Chinese capitalists have invested more than G.$2,000,000 in a textile mill in Tientsin. A very large and completely modern industrial plant is nearing completion at Wusih. Every commercial center in China, waiting to be told. There are, of course, some unfavorable trade conditions, but there will be plenty of writers to point them out.

POWER FOLLOWS WEALTH

"The great advance can mean but one thing: China is developing the consciousness of her wealth, and the consciousness of wealth always is followed by the consciousness of power.

"China is beginning to reject the false conception of her weakness, and to recognise the potential power in her human and material resources. The recognition will mean that acquired and natural wealth will be protected and not lightly bartered to the citizens of other nations.

"You mention China in the Orient or anywhere in the world now and it calls to mind rotten politics. The tide has started which will free the name of your native land from this scandal. The time cannot be far distant when the name 'China' will again—as it did in so many by-gone centuries—call to mind pleasing visions of precious stones and silk, fragrant teas and spices, bronzes and vases of the old dynasties, rare embroideries and brocades, the leopard's skin—commodities which the people of every age long for. The world must be brought again to feel the lure and the romance of China.

"Chinese national unity will come from industrial solidarity. This is the natural order. With the intelligent and prosperous class of Chinese, the slogan seems to be:

" 'Less politics and more bean oil.' "

British Women's Association

GARDENING SECTION

In order to avoid clashing with the opening of the Musical Section of the B.W.A. which is to be 'at home' to all members of the Association at Headquarters on Friday afternoon next, the Gardening Section have decided to postpone their meeting on the 14th until the following week, when a demonstration on Sweet Pea culture will be given in Jessfield Park on October 21 at 4 p.m. sharp. Future demonstrations will include "Bulbs and Tubers" and "Greenhouse work."

MAD RUSH TO BUY FOOD FOLLOWS ISSUE OF KRONEN

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 10.—A telegram from Vienna states that a financial panic has been caused by the recent issue of an unprecedented number of kronen, which resulted in a mad rush of people to buy foodstuffs and goods, in the belief that kronen would soon become worthless.

Police had to form cordons to prevent the demolition of overcrowded premises by excited purchasers, and many shops were cleared of commodities.

RUSSIA'S TRADE HAS DOUBLED IN LAST SIX MONTHS

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, October 3.—Statistics of the import of goods into Russia for the first half of 1921 have been completed. The total weight of goods is 11 million poods or twice as much as during the whole of 1920.

Among the goods imported were four million poods of foodstuffs, two million poods of fuel, two million poods of metal, and five hundred thousand poods of paper goods. The returns of the trade with the Far Eastern Republic is as follows: Imports 225,080 poods and exports 386,834 poods.

send a check, if they use money in China. Now goodbye and I hope you're vaccinated. Lots of people die of small-pox over there. Have a pleasant trip."

The scenario ends, of course, with the sending of a little charm made of white filigreed soapstone, which is just as well, as the only check received consists of a picture postcard showing the monkey-cage in the zoo at Topeka, Kansas.

To anyone who has visited Jade Street in Canton and seen the great slabs of stone awaiting the cutter's tools, the high price of jade seems the grossest example of profiteering since the sugar scandal. But though jade comes in the form of marble blocks sufficiently large to furnish raw material for several cemetery angels, a whole hillside may not supply enough of the flawless translucent variety for a pair of earrings.

NEARLY ALL IMPORTED

Though jade is China's queen among stones, practically none of it comes from within the borders of the republic. Burma and Indo-China are the chief centers of export. Jade is rather widely distributed through the world, being found in New Zealand, Silesia, Alaska, and the Rocky Mountain region of the United States. The Chinese, however, have such a prejudice against any found outside the traditional source of supply that shipload of jade from New Zealand had no market whatever in Canton.

5 YEARS FREE TOIL

The first cutting is effected by saws over which water is kept running. Fine carving is accomplished by the use of tools dipped in ruby dust, black emery being employed for work of a lower grade. So highly is the trade of a jade artisan esteemed that an apprentice in Canton serves five years without pay before becoming a journeyman of even the humblest class.

One of the most flowery of Chinese compliments is the use of jade as an adjective. Hence a gentleman inquiring after the infant of another remarks, "How is your jade baby?" Invitation for another visit may take the form of the question, "When shall we again see your jade foot?" Personally, we have never seen a jade foot, but we have often been stepped on by one while dancing.

When it comes to determining the real value of jade, however, we must confess that we are a better judge of quadratic equations. But then we have seen so much of it out here, real and near real, that our taste for jade has become a trifle jaded.

FRANCE'S HOLD ON RHINE GUARANTEE OF HER SAFETY

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Oct. 10.—Speaking at an unveiling ceremony yesterday, M. Gaston Vidal said that any German aggression in the near future was unlikely. The military occupation of the Rhineland, he added, afforded France the best guarantee for her own safety, but the disarmament of Germany was still incomplete and efforts had still to be made towards that end. The Government, M. Vidal concluded, had confidence in the German Chancellor, who had hitherto kept all his promises.

DRS. FEARN ARE HOSTS TO NOTED U. S. PHYSICIANS

The promising development of medical education in China and the possibility of attaining the ideal through co-operation with local doctors, were the keynotes of the speeches made at the banquet given last night by Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Fearn in honor of three distinguished members of the Rockefeller party: Dr. G. E. de Schweinitz, Dr. John G. Clark and Dr. F. F. Simpson.

Places were laid in dining room and music hall of the Fearn Sanitorium for the sixty-eight members of the Shanghai Medical Society. The gathering indicated the cosmopolitan nature of the Shanghai medical world, as there were present British, French, American, Chinese and Japanese doctors, including eight women.

Dr. Anne Walter Fearn presided at the speakers' table, and introduced each in turn with the charming manner which has made her a gracious hostess in Shanghai.

Dr. de Schweinitz, president of the American Medical Association, head of the department of opthalmology in the University of Pennsylvania, is recognised as one of the greatest eye specialists in the world. His recent text book on diseases of the eye are accepted as the last word on the subject. Dr. de Schweinitz spoke of the courteous reception he had received during his 42 days in China. The future of China's medical education can not be other than bright he said, considering the earnestness of the Chinese who are interested in the work. The present movement will be greatly stimulated when China has an opportunity to play her part in the orchestra of nations.

Dr. Clark, in reponse to the toast offered tribute to the medical missionary, who as a type, has perhaps done more to awaken China to the needs of education than any other agent. The old emotional missionary is gone, said Dr. Clark, and in his place is the medical man, a reasonable, hard working individual, who seeks to spread medical knowledge instead of calling revivals.

Other speakers included Dr. C. N. Davis, Acting Health Officer of the International Settlement Dr. C. V. Yui, president of the National Medical Association of China, and Dr. J. C. McCracken dean of the medical school of St John's University.

Dr. Yui spoke for all China in saying the greatest lesson his people wished to learn was the one of self-sacrifice as illustrated by the Rockefeller gift of the Peking Union Medical College by the gift of time, by the visiting experts, and by the spirit of the medical men of Shanghai.

Dr. McCracken spoke enthusiastically of the work done by the St. John's medical school during the 25 years of its existence, and recited the number of well known Chinese doctors, who have been graduated from the school since 1901. Alhotugh the Rockefeller plan of establishing a medical school in Shanghai has been altered, said Dr. McCracken, there is reason to believe that a great and flourishing school will be seen here within a few years.

Shanghai College Meets St. John's In Tennis Final

Shanghai College and St. John's University will meet in the finals of the East China Inter-Collegiate tennis tournament on Saturday.

In the semi-final matches Shanghai Baptist College won the right to enter the finals by defeating Soochow, and St. John's defeated Futan University.

St. John's made a clean sweep over Futan by winning all of the five matches in the semi-finals of the E. C. I. A. A. Tennis Championship on Saturday, October 8.

Beginning at 10 a.m. the three singles were played off. Captain C. T. Mung of St. John's opposing N. L. Ha of Futan walked off by the wide margin of 6-1, 6-2. K. Z. Zung of the home team defeated T. Y. Van of the visiters' by the score of 6-4, 6-4; while T. T. Mo of St. John's playing against V. Z. Phen won in easy form in 6-1, 6-3.

In the afternoon, the two doubles started at 2 o'clock. Mung and Zung of the Jessfield Collegians defeated Ha and Van of Futan in 7-5, and 6-2. Mo and K. L. Oo, the other St. John's pair won from D. S. Yih and V. Z. Phen by the score of 6-2, 6-3.

INDIANS PLAN GENERAL STRIKE TO GREET PRINCE

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 9.—The Working Committee of the National Congress and the Khilafat Workers has passed a resolution advocating a general strike throughout India on the day of the arrival of the Prince of Wales at Bombay and urging the provincial committees to arrange a boycott on the occasion of the Prince's visits to their respective cities.

The Committee expressed the opinion that the National Congress should inform foreign states that the Government of India in no way represented Indian opinion and that India, as a self-governing state, fearing nothing from her neighbors, did not intend to establish trade relations which were undesirable to her. The Committee declared that Indians regarded most treaties between their neighbors and the Imperial Government as mainly designed to perpetuate the exploitation of India, and therefore urged the States to refrain from entering upon such treaties.

In conclusion, the Committee assured the Mussulman States that respect for their religious obligations would be a guiding factor in the framing of India's foreign policy.

BORNEO RULE IS ONE OF TERROR SAYS MAGAZINE

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 9.—Amazing allegations against the British North Borneo Company are made in the current issue of the Century Magazine by Major E. Alexander Powell, who asserts that opium smoking and gambling are official revenue. Imported laborers, the writer continues, are held in a form of servitude not far removed from slavery. Recalcitrant laborers are flogged and in the event of insurrection, the constabulary, largely recruited from savage tribes, are permitted to decapitate prisoners. A pile of ghastly trophies forms a pyramid in the principal plaza of the capital.

Sir West Ridgeway, in an interview, declared that those allegations were a tissue of lies, supposedly written by someone with a grudge against the company. He could not understand, he said, how they could be published by a magazine of good standing. It was a very serious matter and must be dealt with properly.

Basketball Men Will Meet Today To Plan For Year

The Shanghai Foreign Basketball League will have a meeting tonight at Y. M. C. A. at 8:30 o'clock to elect officers for the coming season and arrange a schedule.

A very successful schedule was played last year with the following teams participating: Columbia Country Club, Shanghai Rowing Club, Shanghai American School, Shanghai Public School for Boys, Reds, Greens and Whites, the Rowing Club winning the Championship.

The officers last year were C. D. Glauque, President; R. B. Nichols, Vice President; V. Haskill, Secretary and Dr. Chas. Irons, Treasurer.

All interested in playing the game are urged to be present at the meeting.

RUSSIAN RELIEF MUST BE GIVEN AID BY POWERS

(Reuter's Service)

Brussels, Oct. 9.—The Russian Famine Relief Conference today passed a resolution, urging the necessity of financial and material assistance by the various governments in order to supplement the work of private organisations, and stressing the importance of guarantees for the distribution of relief and the right of Red Cross societies to send their own staffs to control distribution.

A further resolution was passed saying that the despatch of a commission of enquiry was essential before deciding any credits in order to ascertain transport facilities and methods of distribution. The conference declared that no definite solution could be found until economic conditions returned to normal wherefore it urged the necessity of the Soviet recognising Russia's public and private debts, and thus restoring the confidence of exporters and traders.

Charge Vera Pohlman In U. S. Court Today

Vera Pohlman, who figured so prominently in the recent jail-breaking episode of Amos Norman and Harry Muncie, will appear before U. S. Commissioner F. J. Schuhl this morning to answer charges laid against her in connection with theft of a check.

The check, which was for £92 and was drawn in favor of the Lloyd Triestino line, is alleged to have been stolen from a man named Yeartch and the defendant is accused of trying to cash it. The defendant is represented by Mr. L. W. Hartigan.

Word has been received by the U. S. authorities of the safe arrival in Tientsin of Muncie and Norman and it is expected that the court martial will take place shortly.

MERKULOFF HAS PLAN TO SELL USSURI TO C. E.

(Dalla News Agency)

Harbin, October 5.—On September 20 a secret conference took place at Vladivostok between Merkuloff, the head of the Vladivostok government, on the one hand and Mr. Oztroumoff, Managing Director of the Chinese Eastern Railway, and Colonel Stevens, Chairman of the Interallied Technical Commission, on the other, with the object of leasing the Ussuri Railway to the Chinese Eastern Line for exploitation.

Merkuloff also offered a quantity of materials belonging to the Ussuri Railway for 2,000,000 Mexican dollars. In connection with this conference, Mr. Yanson, Acting Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Far Eastern Republic, has lodged a protest with Dr. W. W. Yen, Minister of Foreign Affairs of China.

The Minister of Transportation of the Far Eastern Republic has also lodged a protest with the Board of Directors of the Chinese Eastern Railway.

CHINESE WANT TO STOP MISUSE OF ALIEN FLAGS

Peking, October 8.—The prevention of the flying of the French flags by Chinese vessels carrying contraband, arms and munitions, and other such cargoes is impossible, according to the reports received here from the Yangtsze Valley and the comments of well-informed persons in French circles.

There is said to be the provision in the French Maritime law permitting any vessel to fly the French flag, on the payment of five thousand taels for the license and five hundred taels per month, if there is a French national connected with the company. According to a foreign observer, at Hankow, the Chinese companies, who desired to run their cargoes of arms and munitions on the Yangtsze under the protection of a foreign flag, have restorted to the expedient of employment a French national in the ppsition of General Manager of the company, thus complying with the terms of the French law.

It is reported that the French authorities in the Yangtsze Valley have done their best to put an end to this practice, though once the license has been granted it seems to be impossible to take it away permanently, except in default of the payment of the five hundred taels per month. It is said, however, that the companies who employed the French nationals as General Managers were notified that unless they discharged these men at once their charters would be withdrawn for three months.

This apparently had its effect, for the men are reported to have been discharged, and in the case of the charter lapsing for any reason whatsoever, it is said to be impossible for these companies to get the right to fly the French flag again.

SZECHUEN FRONT WUSHAN

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 6.—According to a telegram from a military source, the Szechuen troops have retired as far as Wushan. The 24th Division of Chihli troops has arrived at Chinchiling in Patunghsien. A later telegram states General Wu Pei-fu will shortly proceed to Yochow to inspect the new headquarters of the Chihli forces there.

WANTS BROTHER TUCHUN

Peking, Oct. 6.—According to a Mukden despatch, General Chang Tso-lin has sent General Chang Tso-hsiang to Kirin to investigate the progress made in suppressing the Hunghutze. It is stated that there is every possibility that General Chang Tso-hsiang will shortly be nominated as Tuchun of Kirin to succeed General Sun Lieh-chun who may be summoned to Peking to act as Commander-in-Chief of the Mukden forces in north China.

HUPEH TAKES KWEICHOW

Peking, Oct. 7.—A foreign official telegram from Ichang reports that the Hupeh troops have occupied Kweichow (Hupeh) and that general progress on the part of the Hupeh troops on other fronts is reported. The steamer Anlan left Ichang up-river Oct. 5.

WU WANTS ACTION

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Oct. 6.—General Wu Pei-fu's views regarding China's policy at the Washington are embodied in a telegram which the Peking government received from him yesterday from Hankow.

According to this message Wu Pei-fu desires the immediate promulgation of a presidential mandate announcing the appointment of Dr. W. W. Yen as chief delegate, so that further activities on the part of the Canton government for the despatch of a separate delegation to the conference may be stopped once and for all.

Further recommendations by General Wu are that China demand from Japan the unconditional return of the Shantung leased territory and that, should Japan fail to comply with this demand, China should lay the whole question before the Pacific Conference for settlement. Wu recommends in this connection that Tsingtao should be opened as a free commercial port under Chinese control.

It is finally suggested by Wu Pei-fu that the Chinese government should not commit itself to any arrangement at Washington whereby it would be obliged to accept the conference's decisions as to the limitation of the Chinese Navy and Air Force. He makes no mention of the Chinese Army which, according to his expressed belief, is more than twice as large as the internal conditions and the finances of the country warrant

Seven Buildings Damaged By Fire

Tatung Road Blaze Gives Department Brisk Fight

A blaze which gave the department a brisk half-hour's work swept through seven buildings on Tatung Road yesterday morning, causing considerable damage to three of them.

The fire started just before 10 o'clock on the top floor of a house at PP 867 Tatung Road and when the firemen arrived was bursting through the roof and had already obtained a hold in buildings to either side. The buildings are old and of the wooden front variety, with no firewalls between. By reason of the fast work of the department the fire was confined to the top stories. The upper floor of No. 867 was burned out and Nos. 868 and 866 were also rather badly damaged, while four other buildings suffered slightly from fire and water.

Three other fires kept the department occupied Sunday. A restaurant at 187-188 Shanse Road was gutted by a blaze which occurred shortly after 2 a.m. Shortly after midnight Hongkew division dealt with a fire in a Cantonese provision merchants shop at G 664 Tiendong Road, confining the damage to superstructure on the roof.

Embers from a stove set fire to a tailor's shop at F 1120 Bubbling Well Road at 4 a.m. and Sinza division was called out, extinguishing the outbreak with little damage.

The department answered two false alarms last night, one call to North Szechuen Road and the other to the corner of Ningpo and Honan Roads. Crackers fired by celebrants of the national holiday were responsible.

The week-end pilgrimage to the Church of Our Lady of Victories at Tso Zei was well attended by members of St. Joseph's Catholic Association. The pilgrims left Shanghai by houseboat on Saturday afternoon and arrived at Tso Zei early Sunday. At 8 a.m. a special mass was celebrated by the Rev. Father J. A. Croke, S. J., President of the Association, and at 3:30 p.m. the pilgrims made the Stations of the Cross, followed by a recital of the Rosary, at which the Reverend President again officiated. The weather was all that could be desired, and the party reached Siccawei at 6 a.m. yesterday, well satisfied with their week-end undertaking.

SILESIA TERMS TO BE GIVEN OUT BY THE LEAGUE

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Oct. 8.—The Conference of Ambassadors met this morning at the Quai D'Orsay under the presidency of M. Jules Cambon. The conference heard reports regarding the situation in Western Hungary and then examined the measures to be taken on the application of the decision regarding the Upper Silesia frontier. The Council of the League of Nations is on the point of announcing the solution it recommends in regard to apportionment of Upper Silesia and the fixing of the Polish-German frontier. This solution will be communicated immediately to the Supreme Council, which has undertaken to ratify it.

How Many Hairs Came Out Today?
The New Discovery,
GERMOL
Holds Hair Tight in the Scalp.
Stop worrying now, if you see yourself getting bald. There is one way to stop your hair from falling, and to make it grow in the most luxuriant manner. GERMOL is the new discovery that produces this amazing result. The first few days will prove it. GERMOL brings about such great vigor in the hair roots that the root-sacs grip the hair strands. The result is that your hair not only stops falling but grows luxuriantly, and it brings back the original, youthful color to the hair. It is not, of course, a hair dye. Your dandruff will disappear as if by magic, and scalp itching will stop. GERMOL is easy to use, and has a pleasing odor. As a hair invigorator, and a safe means of bringing grey and faded hair back to its original color, it has no equal. Stop your hair troubles from today on: use GERMOL.

POTT WINS SEMI-FINAL AT TENNIS

Strong Finish Gives Him 3 Sets Out Of 5

ROBERTS TIRED

Toussaint And Da Silva Have Not Yet Played

Mr. W. S. A. Pott, holder of the Shanghai Singles Championship since last fall, won in his semi-final match yesterday over Mr. W. P. Roberts, three sets out of five, 6-8, 4-6, 6-4, 6-2, 6-0. The match was played on the Columbia Country Club courts. A good crowd attended.

The opposite semi-final scheduled between Messrs. H. Toussaint and G. A. da Silva was not played. Mr. Toussaint had been called out of the city on business. It is possible that he has scratched to Mr. da Silva. The Shanghai Lawn Tennis Association will decide the point. The final is scheduled for tomorrow. It will probably be played at the Country Club.

The Pott-Roberts match furnished some of the most interesting tennis seen in Shanghai this year. Roberts played his opponent fast and hard and successfully in the first two games. He looked like the winner. Pott was not accurate in his returns. He drove many off the court and into the net. He lost on his faults.

In the latter sets however, with both men steadying down to more accurate play, Pott drew away to consistent winning form. Roberts appeared to lose much of his effectiveness, while Pott became the more certain.

FIRST SET

The first twelve games went in turn to Pott and Roberts, taking the set to a total of fourteen games for the decision which went to Roberts at 8-6. Both men played sharp tennis, though the opening games were marked by balls dropped into the net on returns or driven off the court. Placements were few. The set went to the 10th game with but few aces scored by either player. In that game with the score at 15-15 on two netted balls Pott placed two and Roberts two, when two outside balls gave the game to Roberts. At 40-40 on faults in the 11th Roberts double served and Pott took the game. The twelfth went to Roberts with some strong playing. Pott placed two cross balls and Roberts drove two outside; Roberts went to 40-40 on a netted return, a double serve and two placements, which he followed with two more pretty aces for the game. The last two games were won and lost on faults.

SECOND SET

Roberts retained the lead by taking the second set, 6-4, after better, cleaner playing. Pott took the first game on two clever placements and two netted returns. The second game went to Roberts by the same plays. Pott made it 2-1 in the third game after deuce on Roberts' two outside balls. He added another to his score by Roberts' two outside and two nets in the fourth game. The fifth went to Roberts on Pott's faults, bringing the score to Pott 3, Roberts 2.

Roberts lost the sixth game on a low return after the score was brought to 30-30 on his two placements and one net and Pott's one ace. Pott placed another across the court and Robert's low return decided the game. Succeeding games were decided on faults, Robert taking them all.

THIRD SET

Pott got into the match in the third set by winning 6-4. Roberts was not playing as surely as before, and Pott improved his own game, reducing the number of faults charged to him in the first two sets. After deuce in the first game Pott's low return and Roberts' placement gave the latter the opener. Pott took the next four games on Roberts' faults and two or three clever placements. The sixth, seventh, and eighth went to Roberts purely on Pott's faulty return. The ninth went to Pott on two netted balls, a double serve and an outside in the ninth, and after long play the tenth was decided after 40-15 on Pott's fast cross court placements.

FOURTH SET

Roberts was not so strong in the fourth set, which resulted in a 6-2 score to Pott. The first four games went to Pott on several sharp placements and the faults of Roberts took the fifth on three placements and an outside by Pott. Pott came back in the sixth with three netted balls and an outside by Roberts. The seventh and eighth went to Roberts and Pott respectively on one outside, one net and two aces, each.

FIFTH SET

Pott took the last set in six straight games. The first went to the second deuce when Pott placed one and Roberts drove one outside. The second game went to 40-love on Roberts' faults, when Pott placed one across the short court. The third, fourth and fifth games were a succession of faults by Roberts. The sixth opened with Roberts netting one, and Pott double faulting. Roberts netted another and drove one more outside, Pott double served again, bringing the score to 40-30, after which Roberts put one more outside the lines.

Pairs Title For Recs Club Goes To Bowerman And Phillips

SOME GOOD PLAY IS SEEN

Novel Program Draws A Big Gallery; Games Close S.R.C. Season

BY "THE SHOT"

The Recs were favored with glorious weather on Sunday when they closed their official season with an all day program. The outstanding club events were played off in the morning while the afternoon was taken up with the various competitions organised to close the day. Much interest was centered in the mixed pairs event and spectators had their share of the gun listening to the exhortations of one or two of the skips in an endeavor to coax their partner's woods jackwards.

The visitors event went to Archie Taylor after a tie with an unknown trundling quantity in the person of Jack Wilson. On the completion of the program the prizes were presented by Mrs. E. Lever, the wife of the popular Recs president, who was the recipient of a basket of flowers as a mark of esteem from the members.

SUCCESSFUL SEASON

The Recs committee can look back upon the outgoing season with a certain amount of pleasure as it has proved to be the most successful for many years.

In the inter-club events they were only defeated once and then by the narrow margin of one point. Considering their lowly position only two seasons ago when they could hardly raise four rinks and a win was a complete stranger to them, the change must be very gratifying to them.

The "Wallace" Cup, an extremely sporty affair, when all matches are played on neutral ground, was safely harbored in the club's pavilion for the ensuing year. In the championships they did not figure too well and only J. Wheeler of all the entries was able to go to the semi-final.

Probably the club's greatest achievement was being able to send so many players to the interport games, no less than eight players representing the Recs. Not only did they compete, but played a sterling game, winning five out of seven games at Hankow, and four out of six at Hongkong.

CREDIT COMMITTEE

A strong committee has had a lot to do with the season's success, and the club's thanks are due in a large measure to the untiring efforts of Messrs. Poignand, Phillips and Manwaring. The latter as Secretary to the Association has put in a lot of hard work and is to be congratulated on his efforts.

The new green is coming on fine and should prove a great acquisition next season. I see it is intended to provide one rink for the ladies next season, an announcement which seemed to give quite a lot of satisfaction to those concerned.

The season results are:

Club singles championship (Presented by Mr. E. P. Lever)—Winner T. Main, 2nd N. David.

"Club Pairs" Prizes, presented by Mr. R. P. Phillips—Winners R. J. Bowerman and R. P. Phillips, 2nd G. Ackerman and J. Wheeler.

Novelty Competition—Won by Messrs. Manwaring, Landers and Bigel, 2nd Messrs. Ackerman, Wheeler and Woods.

Drawing to the Jack (Ladies)—Won by Mrs. G. Manwaring, 2nd Mrs. Howell.

Drawing to the Jack (Gents)—Won by Archie Taylor.

Mixed Pairs—Won by Mrs. W. Harvey and G. Manwaring, 2nd Mrs. Kew and S. Marks.

NEW AMERICAN FOOTBALL RULE BOOKS ARE OUT

Changes For 1921 Are Few And Not Considered As Drastic

Spalding's Official Foot Ball Guide for 1921 received by THE CHINA PRESS this week is an encyclopedia, rule book and schedule in one. The information within its pages embraces a review of the season of 1920, and also interesting tables of data, compiled by Parke Davis. They make a record of the unusual passes, runs and kicks. The All-America selections by Walter Camp for 1920 are given, and with them scores of other interesting selections of All-America and sectional teams which are made in all parts of the United States, and which have come to be the formal expression of the most widespread studies of athletic form. Walter Camp as usual is the editor.

These are some of its features:

The rules, with all amendments, to date, marginally indexed, bound separatey, easily detached from the Guide proper and the handiest possible arrangement to carry in the pocket. Just the thing for players who wish a copy available at all times from which to study when they have a chance.

Reviews of the season of 1920, both in college and scholastic football. Filled with information for reference and with historical value.

All America selections, including that of Walter Camp, sectional selections and conference selections, the greatest and most widespread form study of any American sport.

Parke Davis's tables of extraordinary performances. They help to straighten out many a dispute and refresh the memory.

The schedules of college and scholastic foot ball, the program of all the football season from Maine to California. Nothing to compare with it when planning a football itinerary for the season.

Scores of last year. It's very satisfying to have a handy reference book which shows what all of the big teams did in making points.

Lists of the colleges that are engaged in the game and lists of the officials who are eligible for the various contests.

RULES CHANGES

Rules changes are few and not drastic. The first change alters the wording of Rule III to not only "recommend" but to "urge" the numbering of players so that they may be more easily identified.

Another change, Section 4, Rule IV stipulates that a kick shall be allowed in case of a fair catch made after time has expired. Time shall be called when the ball is declared dead after the kick has been made.

Rule VII, Section 1 provides that the referee shall toss a coin in the presence of the captains to decide which team shall take the kick-off or the goal. He shall first designate which captain shall call the toss. It is also provided that the choice shall not be revokable. The rule conforms to custom already established.

The ruling providing a 5-yard penalty for the side in possession of the ball going into motion prior to the moment of a new scrimmage (excepting the player in actual possession of the ball), or for being off-side on a kick-off and free kick, is changed to make the penalty effective from the spot where the ball was put in play.

In Rule XIV, Section 7 the words "or before it crosses the goal line" have been inserted to read as follows: "At kick-off if the ball goes out of bounds before it is touched by any player, or before it crosses the goal line, it shall be brought back and kicked off again." A new section has been added to the rule (Sec. 14) reading "After safety, the side making the safety shall put the ball in play by a scrimmage from first down anywhere on its own 30-yard line." After a touchback the ball is still put in play on the 20-yard line.

Other changes are trivial. Several approved rulings have been added, none of which however will change the style or mode of play,

Chinese Anniversary Brings Out Big Throng For Races At Kiangwan

Excellent Program Of Events Is Witnessed By Gathering Passing All Records In Size—Several Big Dividends

It was apparent at the Kiangwan Race Course yesterday that the Chinese celebration of the anniversary of the birth of the Republic was centered there at the track and by reason of the unusually heavy attendance of Chinese it was estimated that yesterday's crowd was the largest that ever visited Kiangwan.

It may be said that the throng was not disappointed, for some exceptionally fine racing was provided in the card of nine events. The weather was all that could be desired and the course was hard and fast.

In general the ponies ran fairly close to form, but the day was not without its surprises, as several sizable dividends were paid. The largest for the day was on Association, which was ridden to victory in the fifth race by Mr. Moller and yielded a payment of $113.00.

STRUGGLE TO BET

Another evidence of the unusual size of the gathering was to be seen in the pari-mutuel pavilion, particularly through the last half of the program. It was a seething mass of struggling humanity surging blindly backward and forward in the desperate effort to place its money on the favorites. It should be added that it was a wholly good natured crowd.

The October Handicap Steeplechase was a wholly interesting event in which a field of five starters participated. In the beginning of the race Mr. Leaf's Keysoe swept away far in the lead and held it for all of a mile with Djemnah and Liability slowly closing in behind. While Djemnah and Liability succeeded in bettering their positions considerably, they were unable to overtake Keysoe in the stretch and the pony finished an easy winner by many lengths.

In the seventh race which was won by Mr. M. O. Springfield's Safety-light ridden by Mr. J. K. Brand, Mr. C. R. Burkill's Free and Easy ridden by Mr. J. Liou finished in second place, but at the conclusion of the race the pony was disqualified as it had not carried the requisite weight. By reason of this Mr. Foh Sing's Great Sport, ridden by Mr. Heard, which had finished the race in third place was given second place while third place was given to the Golden Plover, ridden by Mr. Hill, which had finished fourth.

THE SUMMARIES

The complete summaries are as follows:

First Race

1.—The Novices Race.—Winner $400. 2nd Pony $150. 3rd Pony $100. For all China Ponies. Weight for inches as per scale. Maidens, allowed 5 lbs. Classic Winners barred. To be ridden by Jockeys who have not won

NAVY NINE WINS BOTH GAMES AT HONGKEW PARK

Draper's Pitching On Sunday Beats Japanese, Score 8-3

SUBS WORKED YESTERDAY

Sailor Reserves Win Over Japanese - Filipino Nine 11-3

The Flagship Huron baseball team won its two games Sunday and yesterday over the Hongkew picked Japanese nine and a Japanese-Filipino team, by scores of 8-3 and 11-3. The Sunday game was a good bit of baseball, but the play yesterday developed into a mere practice for the Navy subs.

Draper, pitching for the sailor team Sunday fanned twelve Japanese. He allowed but five hits. None of the three runs scored on him, were earned. The Navy men scored about as they chose.

The Japanese put in the field about the same team that opposed Shanghai some time ago. Sukai, their twirler was their strongest man Sunday as he was in the game with Shanghai. He got three of his team's total of five hits.

Yesterday's game went five innings. The Navy worked their whole string of players, using five pitchers and three backstops. Lamke who is covering second since Duncan retired from baseball filled the vacancy nicely. The Huron men figure him for the middle sack.

Yesterday's score follows:

	R.	H.	E.
Huron	11	9	1
Japanese-Filipinos	3	3	5

WINS WERE EASY

Clifford Gets Century; Gotch 79: Games Were Slow

Sunday's and yesterday's cricket matches gave wins to Clifford's team over Billings' selections, and to the eleven of the Cricket Club over the Lancastrians, Clifford's XI won by 138 runs to 82, while the S.C.C. team finished with 340 to 118.

The feature of yesterday's match was the batting of Clifford who netted 138 for the club before he was stumped by Barnes off Leach's bowling. Gotch got 79 and Leach 41. Leach for the Lancastrians, bowled 173 overs. He took four wickets for 83. Rawsthorne took three for 87.

Scoring Sunday was slow. Leach for Billings' team made 46 runs and Mansell-Smith 24. The latter took eight of Clifford's wickets for

Y. W. C. A. Campaign To Raise $15,000 Will Start Today

A drive for funds is to be launched today by the Y. W. C. A., workers of which organisation have undertaken to raise the sum of $15,000 toward the budget for Shanghai and for extension work throughout China. The campaign will extend until the 26th.

Circular letters are being sent out and members of the association have organised into teams which will canvass the city. The workers will meet at a luncheon today at the Oriental Hotel to inaugurate the campaign.

SETS CYCLE RECORD

Paris, Oct. 9.—Louis Dutriou, champion cyclist of Dijon, has broken the world's unpaced hour record of 24 miles and 1,152 yards established by F. H. Grubb, at Herne Hill on July 10, 1910, covering over twenty seven miles.

YOU AND YOUR BABY CAN SLEEP WELL AT NIGHT

When Baby's Own Tablets Are In The House.

Sickly babies, little ones who are troubled with their stomach and bowels, whose teething is painful, digestion bad, who have worms, are feverish, or cannot sleep well, may be made healthy and happy by Baby's Own Tablets.

These Tablets, being gently laxative, relieve the little one almost at once. Then it quickly falls into a peaceful natural sleep, awaking rested and refreshed, ready for its meal.

Baby's Own Tablets are guaranteed to be absolutely free from opiates or narcotics. They are equally harmless and helpful to the babe of 8 hours as to the child of 8 years and more.

Obtainable from chemists, or post free, 60 cents the vial, from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent, or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent, or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy and retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse. It causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"I have used your Castoria in cases of colic in children and have found it the best medicine of its kind on the market."
J. E. SIMPSON, M. D., Chicago, Ill.

"A medicine so valuable and beneficial for children as your Castoria is, deserves the highest praise. I find it in use everywhere."
J. S. ALEXANDER, M. D., Omaha, Neb.

"Have used your Castoria on various occasions in suitable cases and have found it a palatable and efficient laxative, especially in the various diseases of childhood."
CHAS. EDWARD GARDINER, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Castoria is good for children and I frequently prescribe it, and always obtain the desired result."
F. GERALD BLATTNER, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.

"I have prescribed Castoria to families for several years. It is all right. Mothers like it, for children will take it without any trouble."
C. A. WILSON, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

"Your Castoria is a splendid remedy for children, known the world over. I use it in my practice and have no hesitancy in recommending it for the complaints of infants and children."
J. A. BOARMAN, M. D., Kansas City, Mo.

Read Wins Clay Pigeon Club's Championship

was leading not having missed any, with Read, Beatty and Hendrickson close behind with 38 breaks. In the next 40 Read broke 38, and Gibson 36, making them level with 76, with Hexamer one bird behind. The final stages of the competition were very exciting. Read completed with 20 straight, Hexamer did the same, and Gibson required the full 20 to tie Read. He unfortunately missed his eleventh bird, and finished up level with Hexamer's 95, giving Read the match by the narrow margin of one.

Gibson and Hexamer then went out to shoot off for second place; both scoring 19 out of twenty, the trap was tightened up to make things more difficult. Hexamer only secured 8 out of the next 10. Gibson breaking all.

Mr. James Ambrose, the President of the Club, presented the Cup to Mr. Read congratulating him on his excellent score which was a record for Shanghai. Mr. Read suitably replied and stated that having won four times he hoped that next year a younger shot would take his place.

The following are the full scores:

POLICE SERGEANT AND WIFE KILLED BY BANDIT GANG

Chinese Sergeant Of Long Service Is Pistol Victim

A Chinese police sergeant, a member of the force for over 17 years, and his wife were shot to death by armed robbers in their home at 1842 Sinza Road early Sunday evening.

The robbers, three in number, entered the house, which is in a poorly lighted alleyway, and demanded a pair of gold bangles from the sergeant's wife. She resisted and attempted to hide the bangles by throwing them behind a door. One of the men levelled an automatic pistol and fired, the bullet severing an artery in the woman's left arm. Hearing the shot, the husband, who had been upstairs, dashed into the room to meet a second bullet which struck him in the forehead over the right eye, killing him instantly.

The policeman, Ching Kwangsoon, No. 344, was attached to Yangtszepoo station and lived at the Sinza Road address with his wife, a married son and two grandchildren. The son was at home at the time of the shooting and attempted to hold one of the robbers but was threatened with a pistol and the trio made their escape.

CHURCHES URGED TO AID WORK OF DISARMAMENT

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Oct. 9.—The Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America has sent a message to its 150,000 congregations here, including most Protestant denominations, urging all religious bodies to seize the opportunity offered by the Washington Conference to cultivate Christian public opinion in favor of disarmament, and demanding a far-reaching reduction of naval and military armaments.

PROBLEMS OF BELGIUM

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Oct. 8.—The invitation to the Washington Conference, handed today by the United States Ambassador at Brussels to the Belgian Foreign Minister, says that in view of Belgium's interests in the Far East, she will be able to participate in the decisions regarding the Pacific and the Far East. The names of the Belgian delegates to the conference have not yet been announced.

The following are some of the points that are of particular interest to Belgium; Pacific questions; Far-Eastern questions; Questions relative to China; Principles to be applied and their application; Territorial integrity; Open Door; Equality of treatment in regard to industry and commerce; Concessions, mondpolies and economic privileges; Development of railways; Preferential railway rates; State of contracts already in existence.

DE BON ALSO TO GO

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Oct. 9.—The Matin understands that Vice-Admiral de Bon, former commander of the French fleet in the Levant has been appointed chief of the naval mission which will accompany M. Briand to Washington.

THREE ARE CHOSEN

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 7.—Messrs. Chang Yu-chuan, Counsellor of the Waichiaopu and Huang Tsung-fa and Chow Hsung-zee, secretaries, having gone to America to attend the Pacific Conference, the Waichiaopu has appointed Messrs. Chen En-hou, Chang Kow-huei and Kuan Chin-lin respectively, to take over their duties during their absence.

DELEGATES ARE CHOSEN

Peking, Oct.—A mandate has been issued today, appointing Mr. Alfred Sze, Dr. Wellington Koo, Dr. Wong Chung-hui and Dr. C. C. Wu as plenipotentiaries to represent China at the Pacific Conference.

Peking, Oct. 7.—It is reported that Mr. Chow Tze-chi has succeeded in persuading Dr. C. C. Wu to accept the post offered him as one of the Chinese delegates to the Pacific Conference.

SHANGHAI VIEW OF YEN

(China Press Correspondence)

Whether or not Dr. W. W. Yen will depart for Washington to head the Chinese delegation at the conference is still a matter of much discussion in the vernacular press. Discussing this question editorially the Shanghai Shang Pao, a vernacular commercial journal owned by a group of industrial liberals in Shanghai says:

"We have to confess to a sense of deep disappointment that Dr. W. W. Yen's unwillingness to make known his decision to go to Washington as chief delegate of the Chinese Delegation is due to the fear that if it were made known now, the various public bodies in Shanghai would compel him to declare his policy regarding the Pacific Conference.

"Although it may be inexpedient for Dr. Yen to make public the questions to be laid by this country before the conference, we should expect him to have already formulated his plans for handling China's case. Even if it should be true that his mind is not yet made up as to how to deal with China's problems at Washington he should declare this to the public frankly and consult with the people in the hope of their helping him to determine on a definite policy. Should he fail to do this the doubt existing in the minds of the general public will grow even greater.

"As far as the present state of affairs in China is concerned, open diplomacy is preferable to secret diplomacy. There may be some excuse for the employment of secret diplomatic methods by an aggressive country, but with China the case is absolutely different. China is weak and has to depend upon the united efforts of the people to vindicate her rights against foreign aggression. If the diplomatic authorities want to get the people behind them they should lose no time in acquainting them with the Government's policy, and there is no reason on earth why Dr. Yen should leave for the United States with his policy at Washington still a secret as far as the Chinese people is concerened."

Can't Trust Wire So Goes To Chita For Instructions

(Dalta News Agency)

Chita, October 8.—Yesterday Mr. Kojevnikoff, Vice-Minister of Foreign Affairs and concurrently a member of the Russian delegation at Dairen, and Mr. Ozornin, Representative of the Far Eastern Republic at Harbin, returned from Dairen due to the necessity of obtaining further instructions from the Government in regard to the Russo-Japanese negotiations.

Mr. Kojevnikoff desires to communicate with the Government in person instead of by wire on account of the fact that Russian messages both in Chita and Dairen are delivered in such a mutilated form that it is impossible to arrive at their meaning.

Authoritative sources state that the Peking Government has sent special agents to Dairen in order to examine into the questions discussed between the Russian and Japanese representatives. It is stated that the Chinese agents have reported that the Dairen Conference is discussing the question of Japanese navigation in the Sungari and Amur Rivers.

It is also stated that the Peking Government has lodged a protest with the Japanese Government in this connection, demanding Chinese representation at the conference. This demand is refused by Japan.

Mr. Matsushima stated to Mr. Petroff that the Japanese delegation has not received instructions from Tokyo regarding the supplementary proposals of the Russian delegation.

GOODS TRAIN IS BLOWN UP BUT TROTSKY SAVED

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Oct. 9.—A telegram from Riga states that another attempt has been made on Trotzkys life. Dynamite cartridges were placed on the railway line with the object of wrecking his train, but a goods train came first and was blown up, forty waggons being destroyed and many people killed and injured.

PETROGRAD IN STATE OF WAR DECLARES SOVIET

(Reuter's Service)

Reval, Oct. 9.—The Petrograd Soviet proclaimed a state of war in Petrograd on October 1.

There were many desertions from the Communist party last month owing to famine and opposition by the peasants who are in favor of private ownership of the land.

Famine Fees To Stand For Year To Aid Relief

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 7.—The famine surtax on posts, telegrams and railway charges was to be discontinued at the end of October, but it is reported that the Government will postpone cancellation of this levy for another twelve months, applying the revenue derived from it to the relief of the flooded districts in the six Yangtsze provinces.

England Healthier; Birth Rate Higher

London, Sept. 3.—There is a steady improvement in the public health.

That is the general summing up of the report, published of Sir George Newman, the chief medical officer of the Ministry of Health, for last year.

The birth rate jumped from 18.5 in 1919 to 25.4 in 1920; the death rate showed a steady decline at most ages, and infant mortality (80 per 1,000 births) is the lowest ever recorded, though there is still much unnecessary loss of life, both of mothers and infants.

Trivial sickness becomes a serious feature in the aggregate, the expenditure on benefit for loss of time through this cause amounting to no less than 270,000 years per annum for the insured population alone.

The decline in infant mortality is held to be due to general enlightenment on the part of the mothers and the increasing popularity of welfare centers, to which 150,000 mothers take their babies regularly.

Maternal deaths, however, show an increase, and the need for more maternity homes is insisted upon.

Influenza was responsible for a considerable rise in the death rate during the first six months, and there were 890 cases of sleepy sickness during the year.

WOMAN SURPLUS IN BRITAIN CAUSE OF GRAVE DANGER

Social Workers Consider Menace Of 2,000,000 Preponderance Over Males

PROF. GEDDES ALARMED

Mrs. Fisher, British Minister's Wife, Takes More Optimistic View

London, Aug. 21. — Social workers and thinkers in Great Britain are becoming seriously alarmed at the problem presented by the enormous preponderance of women over men in England. When the returns of the recent census are completed they are expected to show a surplus of 2,000,000 women in the British Isles. Definite indication of this is already evidenced by the preliminary returns for Scotland alone, where there are today 185,565 more women than men. In 1911 this surplus was only 143,226, which means an increase of 42,339 women over men in Scotland in the last ten years.

Prof. Patrick Geddes of St. Andrew's University, the eminent sociologist, takes a most alarming view of this situation. "Civilisation," he says, "is high or low according as women are at a premium or a discount. The war has left Europe with at least 10,000,000 maidens then growing up who must now live mateless. Hence a coming discount of women is imminently threatened and is indeed in accelerating progress."

Prof. Geddes believes this fact constitutes a menace to society; that if steps are not taken to give these women a special education and training for the new conditions of life a period of wholesale demoralisation may set in which will shake our civilisation to its foundations.

"It needs," he continues, "a movement in every land, no less intense than that of recent years for women's suffrage; it needs, too, to be far more deeply and fully organised. Yet, with all their good ideas and intentions, our educational institutions and conferences, even those of the universities, are missing the situation.

"Here is an opportunity as unparalleled as is the danger; therefore what a scope there is for vital and educational initiative, for saintly and heroic founders, for new sisterhoods of social service."

HOPE IN AMERICAN IDEALS

The professor thinks there is most hope from America, where "women are held in higher respect than in England."

"Women are not so overwhelmingly in the majority there," he went on. "They are thus able to choose their husbands; all the choice is not left to the men. There is also hope in the greater independence of the women and in their fuller democratic spirit.

"There is the problem," he concluded, "It is a serious and urgent one. Among all the criteria of civilisation none goes deeper than that of the status of women."

Father Bernard Vaughan, one of the most prominent Roman Catholic divines in the country and an enthusiastic speaker on social problems, is no less alarmed than Prof. Geddes.

"We are living in a hideous time," he said, "when there are no more tears at the feet of Jesus than there is water upon our meadows. We are told of women being in excess of men in Great Britain by nearly 2,000,000; that they have no opportunity of getting married; that there are not enough husbands to go round; and that those who are not married or preparing for the Divorce Court, had best find lovers and experience all the joys of life. But what they would really experience would be the folly of a miserable morality and all the possibilities of a woman seeking the joy of animal life."

Considerably more optimistic in her outlook, though she does not deny the extreme gravity of the situation, is Mrs. H. A. L. Fisher, wife of the British Minister of Education.

"The probelm is a terribly real and serious one," says Mrs. Fisher. "Human nature is such that the ordinary man and the ordinary woman need one another, are incomplete without each other, need too that hold upon the future, that incentive to brave and successful living which comes from parenthood.

"Without marriage and parenthood life is an incomplete affair to most people. Are we to expect, therefore, as some would gloomily prophesy, an outburst of lax morality because there are not enough men to go around and consequently not enough fathers for all the children whose would-be mothers long to call them into existence? Or are we to adopt desperate measures and for the time being recognise and accept irregular arrangements so that the craving for motherhood may not go unsatisfied?

"Fundamentally, we are a law-abiding, convention-respecting nation and it is, to say the least, doubtful whether either of these things will happen. Fortunately for ourselves, and for them, the young women who are called upon to live lives other than those for which nature meant them, will dwell in a world where it is possible to find wholesome and useful outlets for their powers of loving, for their instinct of motherhood.

THE MOTHER INSTINCT

"Many of them will adopt the greatest of all professions, that which, with motherhood, has the future in its hands, the profession of teaching. More and more are we coming to understand that the mother, if she is to do her work as well as it can be done, needs help, and there are for women endless openings as teachers in schools of all grades, as nurses and teachers in nursery schools, as home helps, as health visitors and workers in baby welfare centers.

"There are, besides, many women whose emotional needs are less strong and who can make full and useful lives for themselves, as many men have done, when once they can find and perform the work for which they are suited. And for the rest, the woman with the instinct of maternity, the craving for love, let us comfort ourselves by remembering how much there is for them to do, if not for their own children, then for those of other women.

"And for those girls who are brave enough to go far afield, the need for women who are not afraid to face difficulties is as great as ever. Just as there are women who cannot find husbands here, so, too, in other lands are there men who cannot find wives.

"The problem then is a hard one, but there is surely no need for despair, no need even for grave discouragement."

SEES HIDEOUS DANGER

On the other hand, Miss Lilian Barker, who has probably had more experience with women, especially women workers, than any one else in England, believes that the problem of the "surplus woman" is much more serious than does Mrs. Fisher. Miss Barker is the Executive Officer of the Central Committee for Women's Training and Employment. During the war she held several Government posts in connection with women war workers, including that of Lady Superintendent of Woolwich Arsenal. Summing up the situation, she says:

"There are hundreds of thousands of women who cannot marry and who, unless they are helped, cannot get a job. Who can blame them if, in order to live, they fall back on their one remaining asset?" she adds significantly.

"During the war," she continues, "these same women were one of our greatest assets. There was not a single one too many. It is due to them now that they should be trained and given a definite value. Widely organised training for women is one of the most urgent economic needs of the day. The greatest difficulty is the apathy of the public and the lack of support from the authorities on this question."

Lady Ashwick, in reply to a statement credited to Lord Northcliffe in America, declared:

"Just the other day I was at Swanley College, Kent, and was greatly impressed by the opportunities which women have for scientific work on the land. And I was struck by the display of 'mothering' care which they gave to the experiments concerned with plants and young animals, on which quality, I need hardly say, success so often depends."

Miss Sybil Thorndike, the actress, said: "If there are so many more women, it does not very much matter. They can lead perfectly complete lives in themselves. All the professions are open to them now, and marriage is not a necessity."

Miss Genevieve Ward was also optimistic. "It will all straighten out itself," she said.

Some original opinions were expressed by members of the merry and intellectual group of women teachers—151 of them—from Canada and New Zealand who are visiting London.

A Canadian schoolmistress said: "Send your superfluous women to us. We are short of women, especially in the West, and no woman who is willing to go West has any chance of being called superfluous."

White Elephants

To buy food for an elephant requires a lot of money. It is said that the King of Siam sends a white elephant to the courtier whose fortune he wishes to destroy. The courtier dares not dispose of the elephant; so the expression "white elephant" has come to mean something you don't know what to do with.

If you have any "white elephants," CHINA PRESS Want Ads will help you sell them.

In the Exchange and Mart column, your advertisement will quickly reach the attention of prospective buyers for your discarded articles.

Business and Official Notices

We, the undersigned, beg to inform that owing to the High Cost of Living, the painters have demanded the increase of their wages. On the 9th day. of October a meeting was called at the Painters' Guild in the City, of representatives of the foreign and Chinese furniture firms and committees of us. By majority the following resolution has been decided: Beginning on the 1st day of November (October 1, Lunar calendar) the wages for each painter will be increased as follows: 7 cents per day with meals; 10 cents per day without meals; 20% to be added to those matters including materials.

The above resolution was approved by Messrs. Hall and Holtz, Weeks and Company, Arts and Crafts, Mafei and Company (貿豐), Tai-Chong (泰昌) and Wei-Lee (滙利) and hope other firms will notice this and arrange for the same. We are,

The Painters' and Polishers' Guild.

POLICE HURT 12 STUDENTS; STOP THEIR PARADE

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Oct. 6.—Twelve students of the Wuchang Normal Colleges were injured in a clash with the police yesterday afternoon, when the students of the college, who have come to Peking to petition the Vice-Minister of Education to reopen their school, attempted to leave the Ministry of Education and parade the streets so as to arouse public opinion in favor of their demands.

It appears that the Peking police, having got wind of the planned parade, arrived at the Ministry of Education just as the students from Wuchang were about to leave it. They forbade the collegians to go out into the streets, and an argument on this point started at once, ending in an attempt by the students to force their way out. In the resulting clash the Wuchang students were driven back into the grounds of the Ministry and twelve were injured. Of these several are in a serious condition.

Subsequently four uninjured students were appointed by their comrades to call on the Vice-Minister of Education and protest against the action of the police, but they failed to get an interview with him. Representatives from the President's office went to inquire after the condition of the wounded students as soon as the affair became known.

"----Forever Blowing Bubbles"

THE song plays suggestively about the ruins of the Dairen Conference. The outcome of this effort may be characterised as a brilliant failure. Softly the Japanese diplomats are using other terms to describe its failure.

In all probability a larger, more important bubble is due for destruction in the not far off future. It floats now, from the point of view of militarists, beautiful, irridescent; but from the view of its present victims a gruesome reality, a menace of khaki and bayonets.

Owing to the stubbornly expressed opinion of the commercial elements in Japan, but more especially in consideration of certain foreign contingencies and also because the Chita Government repeatedly had requested a definite reply in regard to the evacuation of the Japanese forces, the Government at Tokio tried a new game in the Siberian situation. A conference was called in Dairen.

This bubble was blown up to some size by various Japanese news agencies. The assurance was sent abroad in long sheets of dispatches that Japan was ready actually to withdraw her troops from Siberia.

Japan's protege, the Merkuloff "government" at Vladivostok, began to feel some uneasiness. But Asiatic diplomacy whispered, and misgivings were quieted.

For more than a month the two delegations continued negotiations. It was not easy to foretell the end, though it could be safely ventured that the conference boded little good for Russia.

Two main forces impelled the Japanese negotiators to a settlement. One was the attitude of the merchants of Japan regarding the Siberian policy. A number of newspapers strongly insisted on the evacuation of the troops. The expedition was becoming a heavy and profitless burden on Japanese taxpayers. A resolution of the Osaka Chamber of Commerce declared that trade with Siberia nad completely died out, and that the Merkuloff "government" had not realised the hopes of the militarists. The other more pressing need of the Japanese Government was to wash from its hands the blood of slaughtered peasants and appear before the representatives of the nations as a civilised power.

It would seem that if Japan desired to settle the Siberian problem and withdraw her troops, sufficient time was given to conclude an agreement with the Far Eastern Republic. But the bubble assumed the form of a new and brilliant possibility. It reflected the fascinating radiance of a bright idea.

From the very beginning, therefore, while the agencies were sending out telegrams of a most friendly character telling the world how anxious Japan was to withdraw, the conference assumed a quite different character. It seemed impossible to come to the obvious decision.

The conference appeared to avoid the question. Perhaps it would be possible to satisfy the urgent necessities of the situation, and still retain a military grip on Siberia, in fact strengthen it.

The character of the Japanese propaganda, it might be said, was necessitated by urgent necessity. After ten days of silence a pronouncement is sent forth that the Japanese Government takes the position that the questions of a trade agreement and of evacuation must be considered separately.

The usual assurance follows, that Japan is ready to evacuate, but on account of special cirumstances the evacuation must await a more propitious moment. In any event the evacuation would be gradual.

In an official interview a decided hint is conveyed that if it should not prove possible to conclude a trade agreement before discussing the evacuation of the military forces, then Japan could withdraw her troops only when a government existed throughout Russia which enjoyed complete recognition of the great powers. This means, of course, postponing the day ahead a considerable time, when it would be subject to new contingencies.

In passing it may be noted that the Japanese theory, like the German, appears to be simple: the stronger the military advantage, the more favorable the terms of any contract or trade agreement. This is what brings the world to ruin.

The Russian delegates, however, understood the situation, and declared that they are ready to discuss the Japanese proposals for a trade agreement only upon explicit declaration that the troops would be withdrawn.

Mr. Matsushima, the head of the Japanese delegation was "very much surprised" by the demand of the Russian delegation, and asked instructions from Tokio!

It seems that the bubble has burst.

It had been calculated that the Far Eastern Republic would sign any terms. The Russians had been moderate, not demanding that their territory be cleared of troops first, as a condition for discussing an agreement regarding trade. They asked for the fixing of a definite time limits. They had in addition agreed to negotiate without even de-facto recognition.

In non diplomatic terms the Japanese tried to hoodwink the representatives of the Far Eastern Republic. But with somewhat serious results, for the proposals made at the conference disclose officially the actual designs of Japan which no amount of bowing and smiling can conceal or explain away at Washington.

Allen And Vermont

Ira Allen made Vermont a State and set it in the Union; gave it a university that has endured in honor for 117 years; during the Revolution he erected a neutral buffer between the Colonies and Canada that protected almost the entire northern frontier, and this by the most subtle and dangerous diplomacy, and died a debtor exiled from his beloved State.

Here, it would seem, is a name to blaze across the pages of local history, yet the bronze statue, by Sherry Fry, presented to the University of Vermont by James Benjamin Wilbur and unveiled on June 18, is the first important memorial of the founder of the State of Vermont. Allen, who was born at Cornwall, Conn., in 1751, first went into the territory which is now Vermont as a land surveyor about the year 1770.

The title to the land in what was still called the "New Hampshire grants" was hotly contested between the settlers and claimants from the colony of New York. Allen was active in organising the Green Mountain Boys, whose object it was to protect local rights and eject the New York "land pirates." The dispute occasioned so much bitterness that the people in the grants preferred union with England to absorption by "that colony the most detestable on earth"—New York.

In a convention called by Allen at Dorset in 1776 the grants declared themselves an independent State. Meantime the Revolution had begun, and Vermont was doing her share of fighting the British. General Stark is quoted as saying that Ira Allen was his "righthand man" at the Battle of Bennington.

Then, in 1781, Allen arranged that unbelievable armistice with General Haldimand of the English forces which for almost a year kept Great Britain in parley with a little stretch of wilderness that had no status whatever as a political entity, beyond its own assertion.

In 1795 Allen went to Europe. War with England had threatened once more, and Vermont was lamentably short of arms. He purchased 20,000 muskets with bayonets and other equipment, and paid for them with money borrowed on his Vermont properties. These were shipped from a neutral port in November, 1796. A week later they were held up and confiscated by the British on the charge that they were intended for an uprising in Canada or Ireland.

Seven years and four months later, the case in the British Admiralty Courts was decided in his favor but by that time his financial ruin was complete.

A LEAGUE OF NATIONS THEATER

"The aim of the League of Nations is to combine the civilised peoples of the earth in an endeavor to abolish, or, at any rate, restrict, the possibility of war. A great cause, greater unmistakably than any other human project ever devised. And the drama can do much towards furthering it.

"What wonders did not Tree do during the War to reconcile the views of the English speaking nations of the Old World and the New? I purpose to use the stage in order to cement the friendship between nations, and from what I have witnessed in Brussels there is no greater moving power in that direction than the drama. This is not only my own impression. It is one that is prevalent generally abroad."

So writes Mr. J. T. Grein, the well known English dramatic critic, who in the years long past swore at and encouraged the writer of this column when he first essayed to appear in print in The Referee.

Today Mr. Grein, mostly genial and always charitable, has an idea that is bound to bring the highest results. I give it as he wrote it for the prominent English stage journal The Era. (By the way, it was brought to my notice by that popular playgoer Mr. Gunn, of Whiteaway's.)

OUTLINE OF THE SCHEME

(By J. T. Grein)

I gladly avail myself of the offer of The Era to outline my scheme for a League of Nations Theater, so far as it has matured. The inspiration, as I have hinted, came to me in Brussels, where the "Old Vic" gave Shakespeare and Mr. Leon M. Lion presented "Count X" with overwhelming success last month. The Belgian Cabinet Minister, the U. S. Ambassador, and Sir George Graham, our Ambassador in Brussels, were present, and were charmed with the play and the performance.

"This is of far greater importance than you can imagine," said Mr. Brand Whitlock, the U. S. Ambassador, and next day Sir George asked, "Won't you give us more English plays?" "I will," I replied, "if you will give me your patronage." "You have it," he replied, "and you will get Mr. Whitlock, too." Meanwhile I had written to the Belgian Ambassador in London, Baron Moncheur, who also gave me patronage for further exploitation. I saw also Mr. Alfred Garner, manager for Messrs. W. H. Smith, who is now in Brussels, who promised to do the agency work through his firm. "You will have full houses if you come back with the right plays," he declared.

My plan of plays includes Shaw, Galsworthy, Barrie, Pinero, Carton Jones, and Sutro. I propose to begin with Galsworthy's "Pigeon," Shaw's "Arms and the Man," and Captain Berkeley's charming comedy, "French Leave," a play that will go all over the world.

ALLOCATION OF PROFITS

I have money sufficient for a good start. It is my own money, but I will take no profit whatsoever. Any proceeds will go to the League of Nations or to a National Theatre Fund, such as I would like to see established in England. If moreover, I make a considerable profit, it would give me joy to set aside a generous donation to perpetuate the work of the Abbey Theatre, Dublin, the mother of the National Theatre movement in this kingdom.

It was whilst I was pondering upon how to dispose of the profits of the venture that the idea came to me—A League of Nations Theatre! I got into communication with Captain Berkeley and Mr. Hamilton Fyfe, who accepted my invitation to become literary advisers. In Belgium I am already assured of the Royal Flemish Theatres, as I am honorary literary adviser for them in England.

If Belgium responds well, I shall immedately proceed to take Holland in hand —Holland, my native heath; Switzerland, Scandinavia, and probably Italy will come next, and these will be followed by Austria and Czecho-Slovakia. France is in contemplation, but my friend, Philip Carr, has just started a little theatre there, and I do not propose to do anything to hamper his progress.

CRITICS AND THE EXTENT

I should like to repeat that I take none of the profits of the undertaking. I am a pioneer, not an impresario. I am dramatic critic, and I am only doing what the leading critics of other countries have done—Otto Brahm Schlenter, in Germany; Ballande and Antoine, in Paris; Symons in Holland—that is to say, combine with criticism the practice of art without regard to financial interest. It is my love of the drama in the country of my adoption that has prompted me to embark upon this scheme. I have, as you know, already done entente cordiale work in London with my French Players, which I founded to aid Belgian artists in 1916, and which is flourishing under high patronage. In the course of the forthcoming winter I propose to give not only Sunday performances, but what I call Afternoon Tea Performances of new French Plays at 4.30 p.m.

I have already made some engagements for the League of Nations Theater. Mr. Fisher White will be artistic director and producer, and Mr. Fred Wright will be manager; Miss Ethel Fisher, hon. secretary; Coutts & Co., our bankers. Miss Dorothy Massingham will be one of the leading ladies. I have engaged also Miss May Haysac, Miss Muriel Hope, and Miss Laura Mills, daughter of the "Punch" artist, and Mrs. J. T. Grein.

The League of Nations Theatre will, I hope, provide work for young, ambitious actors, but if in the autumn any of them could get better engagements in London I would leave their hands quite free. I am anxious to make it clear that I would not stand in the way of any of my artists.

Here, then, is the rough outline of my scheme for a League of Nations Theatre. May I venture to hope that my faith in it may not be misplaced?

Official Text Of China's Reply On Shantung Negotiation

Peking, October 6.—The following official translation of the Chinese text of the Foreign Office's memorandum in reply to the Japanese Shantung memorandum of September 7 was furnished to THE CHINA PRESS from the Chinese Government for publication this afternoon:

MEMORANDUM

With reference to the important Shantung question which is now pending between China and Japan, China has indeed been most desirous of an early settlement for the restitution of her sovereign right and territory. The reason why China has not, until now, been able to commence negotiations with Japan is because of the fact that the bases, upon which Japan claims to negotiate, are all of a nature either highly objectionable to the Chinese Government and the Chinese people or such to which they have never given their recognition. Furthermore, in regard to the Shantung question, although Japan has made many vague declarations, she has in fact had no plan which is fundamentally acceptable. Therefore, the case has been pending for many years, much to the inexpectation of China.

On September 7, Japan submitted certain proposals for the readjustment of the Shantung question in the form of a memorandum together with a verbal statement by the Japanese Minister to the effect that, in view of the great principle of Sino-Japanese friendship, Japan has decided upon this fair and just plan as her final concession, etc. After careful consideration, the Chinese Government feels that much in Japan's new proposals is still incompatible with the repeated declarations of the Chinese Government, with the hopes and expectations of the entire Chinese people and with the principles laid down in Treaties between China and the foreign Powers. If these proposals are to be considered the final concession on the part of Japan, they surely fall short to prove the sincerity of Japan's desire to settle this question.

For instance:

RETURN OF KIAOCHOW

1.—The lease of Kiaochow expired immediately on China's declaration of war with Germany. Now that Japan is only in military occupation of the leased territory, the latter should be entirely returned to China without condition. There can be no question of any leashold.

2.—As to the opening of Kiaochow Bay as a commercial port for the convenience of trade and residence of the nationals of all friendly Powers, China has already, on previous occasions, communicated her intention to do so to the Powers, and there can be no necessity for the establishment of any foreign settlement. Again, agricultural pursuits concern the vital existence of the people of a country, and according to the usual practice of all countries, no foreigners are permitted to engage in them. The vested rights of foreigners are permitted-to-engage obtained through legitimate processes under the German regime shall of course be respected, but those obtained by force and compulsion during the period of Japanese military occupation and against law and Treaties can in no wise be recognised. And again, although this same article, in advocating the opening of cities and towns of Shantung as commercial ports, agrees with China's intention and desire of developing commerce, the opening of such places should, nevertheless, be left to China's own judgment and selection in accordance with circumstances. As to the regulations governing the opening of such places, China will undoubtedly bear in mind the object of affording facilities to international trade and formuiate them according to established precedents of self-opened ports, and sees, therefore, no necessity in this matter for any previous negotiations.

NO JOINT RAILWAYS

3. The joint operation of the Shantung Railway (that is the Kiaochou-Tsinan Line) by China and Japan is objected to by the entire Chinese people. It is because in all countries there ought to be a unified system for railways, and joint operation destroys unity of railway management and impairs the rights of sovereignty. And, in view of the evils of the previous cases of joint operation and the impossibility of correcting them, China can now no longer recognise it as a matter of principle. The whole line of the Shantung Railway, together with the right of control and management thereof, should be completely handed over to China, and, after a just valuation of the capital and properties, one half of the whole value of the lines not returned shall be purchased back by China within a fixed period. As to the mines appurtament to the Shantung Railway which were already operated by the Germans, their plan of operation shall be fixed in accordance with Chinese Mining Law;

5. With reference to the construction of the extensions of the Shantung Railway, that is the Tsinan-Sunteh and Kiaochou-Hsuchou lines, China will, as a matter of course, negotiate with international financial bodies. As to the Chefoo-Washien Railway, it is entirely a different case and cannot be discussed in the same category;

ANENT THE CUSTOMS

6. The Custom House at Tsingtao was formerly situated in a leased territory and the system of administration differed slightly from others. When the leased territory is restored, the Custom House thereat should be placed under the complete control and management of the Chinese Government and should not be different from the other Custom House in its system of administration.

7. The extent of public properties is too wide to be limited only to that portion used for "administrative purpose." The meaning of the statement in the Japanese Memorandum that such property will, "in principle, be transferred to China, etc," rather lacks clearness. If it is the sincere wish of Japan to return all the public properties to China, she ought to hand over completely the various kinds of official, semi-official, municipal and other public properties and enterprises to China to be distributed according to their nature and kind to the administrations of the Central and local Authorities, to the Municipal Council and to the Chinese Customs etc., as the case may be, regarding this, there is no necessity for any "special arrangement," and

WITHDRAW THE TROOPS

8. The question of the withdrawal of Japanese troops from the province of Shantung bears no connection with the retrecession of the Kiaochow leased territory, and the Chinese Government has repeatedly urged for its actual execution. It is only proper that the entire Japanese army of occupation should be immediately evacuated. As to the policing of the Kiaochow-Tsinan Railway.

9. The question of the withdrawal of Japanese troops from the Province of Shantung bears no connexion with the retrocession of the Kiaochow leased territory, and the Chinese Government has repeatedly urged for its actual execution. It is only proper that the entire Japanese army of occupation should now be immediately evacuated. As to the policing of the Kiaochow-Tsinan Railway, China will immediately send a suitable force of Chinese Railway Police to take over those duties.

The foregoing statement gives only the main points which are unsatisfactory and concerning which the Chinese Government feels it absolutely necessary to make a clear declaration. Further, in view of the marked difference of opinion between the two countries and apprehending that the case might long remain unsettled, China reserves the freedom to herself of seeking a solution of the question whenever a suitable occasion presents itself.

Red Rule Of Urga Equitable

Suiyuan, Oct. 3.—Politics in Mongolia are becoming more stabilised in the outer territory and more unbalanced in the inner country. Which is to say that where the Chinese no longer exercise authority the situation is becoming normal again and where Chinese rule allows for the free play of rivalry and intrigue among the military chieftains affairs approach a state of anarchy.

The red rule in Urga appears to be all that could be asked of it, according to both Mongols and foreigners from that capital. The Russians are not interfering with the internal administration of the Mongols except to encourage the ruling party to call themselves communists. They are concentrating their attention on the elimination of reactionary and Japanese influence from Mongolia, and their bands have reconnoitred as far as Ulianghai and Kobdo, one thousand to one thousand five hundred miles west of Urga, in search of parties of Russian whites. They are, of course, in close touch with the ruling chieftains among the Mongols, and exercise a controlling influence in foreign relations.

ORDER IS RESTORED

These ruling chiefs have been able to restore order and conditions of safety to life, property and trade in Urga and vicinity, and Chinese business (for the Chinese merchants have been molested by none of the conflicting factions) is again flourishing. Foreign traders are returning. The representatives of the Standard Oil, Mongolian Trading Co. and other firms have again taken up residence in Urga.

In Inner Mongolia, however, due to the ambitions of Chang Tso-lin, conditions are far from satisfactory. Chang has just succeeded through intrigue and bribery in ousting the independent-spirited old Chiang Kwei-ti from Jehol. He is using Chahar, long his, as a strategic collecting point for troops for a possible struggle with the powers-that-be south of the Great Wall. He is endeavoring to complete his possession of Inner Mongolia by prying Ma Fu-hsiang out of Suiyuan, and his officers who arrogantly travel about Suiyuan consider that this territory already belongs to their chief.

MIXTURE OF TROOPS

There is a greater mixture of troops in this little territory than in any other spot of equal size in China. There seems to be no method open to the Tutung by which he can clear up the mess.

Added to the difficulty of ridding the territory of soldiers who are getting rich through opium exploitation, is the difficulty of dealing with hands of soldiers who chose to separate themselves from the Mongolian expeditonary forces to rob and loot around the borders.

Mr. Chai Chun-lin, of the Kansu Earthquake Relief Committee, has just returned from Lanchow, having spent a month on the long scow trip down the Yellow River. Shortly above Wuyuan his scow was fired at by twenty soldiers of the former Urga Garrison, who commanded the boat to come to shore to be robbed. Only by bluffing that their scow was that of General Ma Fu-hsiang did Mr. Chai and his companions escape being held up. Many such parties of soldiers were let behind when General Kao, of the retreat from Urga fame, withdrew through Suiyuan several weeks ago. His retreating troops, numbering only a few hundreds, were followed by a baggage train of camels, mules and carts carrying the spoils of an entire summer's looting in the Wuyuan district. A foreign observer says it appeared to him that there was a carload of equipment for each soldier. Kao is now in Peking explaining the Mongolian situation to the Ministry of war, but his troops remain in Suiyuan. All these various forces; Chihli troops, Kansu troops, Ministry troops, and Fengtien men, maintain a sort of balance through mutual fear, as was evidenced by the manner in which Mr. Chai procured his escape.

With the Peking-Suiyuan railway reaching out to the Upper Yellow River at Paotow, this Suiyuan valley is the most promising highway to commercial empire in Asia. There remain, however, some obstructions which urgently require to be swept off the highway.

"One leads where many follow."

Hall's Distemper has led the way to a new era in house decoration—the era of brighter, cleaner and healthier homes.

It is the most durable of all decorations, lasting for years with freshness unimpaired, whereas wall-papers deteriorate from the first day by fading and accumulating dust and dirt.

Hall's Distemper is a thorough disinfectant, and is applied directly upon the wall, forming a hard surface, from which dust and dirt may be "spring-cleaned" by lightly sponging with warm water.

Hall's Distemper (Registered Trade Mark)

is a unique preparation and has the recommendation of leading sanitary authorities, architects, and decorators everywhere.

The Fable Of The Man Who Was Perfectly Miserable As His Wife Went Off To The Country As He Toiled Hard

Once there was a Wife who gave the Money-Getter a Vacation by going into the Country for a Month. Dearie took her to the Train, and all the way she kept saying that it did not seem just Right to romp away on a Pleasure Trip and leave him Shell-Roaded.

He began to fear that she would Weaken, so he told her that while he was slaving and sizzling in the City, it would give him sufficient Joy to know that Darling was out in the Woods, listening to the Birds.

He insisted that she should stay until she was thoroughly Rested. Of course, he did not dare to make it too Strong. He played the Self-Sacrifice Gag and threw in a Dash of Marital Solicitude, and made an awful Try at Imitating one who has been soaked by a Great Sorrow.

LITTLE DID SHE SUSPECT

At the Missus looked at him through her Tears and held his Salary-Hook in hers, little did she suspect that he had framed up a Poker Festival for that Night and already the Home Brew was spread out on the Ice.

He had told her that he was going to sit up in the Library every Evening and read Macaulay's History of England. By opening the Windows on both sides he could get a nice Breeze from the West. Along about 10 o'clock if he got Sleepy, he could turn in. Why not?

It was a lovely Time-Table that he had mapped out. He submitted it to Pet before she went away and she put her O. K. on it, even though her heart ached for him. Breakfast at the strange Boarding-House. A day of Toil interrupted by a small Bunch of Food at the Dairy Lunch.

BACK TO STRANGE FACES

Then back to the unfamiliar Faces at the Boarding-House.

Then sitting alone in the Gloaming, thinking of the Absent One.

Then an Hour or two in the Library with the jovial Macaulay.

Then to Bed in the Lonesome House and Dreams of Sweetie.

He gave her a Schedule which she could consult at any time, Day or Night, and thereby find out what he was doing at that Moment. It was just as convenient as sending a Marconi every Hour or so.

He held himself down until the Train had flirted around the Curve, or he knew that she was watching him from the Observation Car. Then he threw his Hat in the Air and began to do Flip-Flops.

SEES POOR MONTH AHEAD

"O, I suppose this is Miserable," he said. "I can see a very poor Month ahead of me—yes—not. Me wearing all my Bells and taking a Hurdle every Furlong.

He rushed in to the Telegraph Office and sent a Wire to her, so that it would catch her at the first Station up the Road. It said not to worry and to take a Good Rest and everything was moving along about the same as usual. With love and Kisses.

After which he went over to Mike's to see if the Volstead Act was still unheard of there.

Hubby went up street with his straw dipped down in Front, the same as the College Rakes wear them, and his Coat was thrown wide open to show the dizzy Pleats. His Cuban Blood was all het up and he told himself that he was 19 years old and never had a Home.

HE WAS NIFTY

Oh, but he was Nifty. He was out of the Corral and into the Red Clover and nix any Halter and Box Stall for him. At least not for a Month.

It happened that he had the usual number of disreputable Friends. They were All Right, but he did not dare to have them up to the House, because Angel-Face had investigated them and returned True Bills. They were a little too Gamey for Presbyterian Circles, but they fitted right in at any Function where every man takes off his Coat.

Husband began to use the Telephone, and in the course of an Hour he had organised a Pirate Crew that would go as far as you like at any Game from Pitch-and-Toss to Manslaughter.

For when a decent Married Man does start out to find something different from the calm Joys of connubing in a Side Street, he is the Village Limit.

HAD SHOP TO SELF

Husband had the whole Shop to himself. He employed a Senegambian who was a good two-handed Worker with the Corkscrew. Then he had $40 worth of Dutch Lunch sent in from the Delicatessan and arranged the Stacks of Reds, Whites, and Blues. He told himself that the only True Enjoyment was found in Bachelor's Hall.

His Hickey Acquaintances came in, showing more or less Stage Fright, as they were not accustomed to seeing Rugs and Tidies. They told him he had a Swell Joint. After they had been to the Tea a couple of times they began to peel and one of them started some rowdy Work on the Piano. Another backed into a $30 Statuette and put it out of Business and then offered to pay for it, but the Host said it cost only 98 cents at a Bargain Sale.

PAPA HAD BEEN NIPPED

At 10 p.m. the wife, who was in Upper Seven, referred to her Time-Table and saw Papa sitting by the Student's Lamp, reading Macaulay. She had no way of knowing that Papa had just been strung for a Month's Rent in a Progressive Jack Pot.

In the morning when Papa arose and looked at the cold Welsh Rabbits and saw the Cigar Ashes all over the Place and when he had a Taste as if he were taking care of a Lap-Robe, the glad Bohemian Existence did not look as Good to him as it had when lighted up the Night before. Especially as he had got the Zoop for some 80 Buckerines.

Still there is no one case of Remorse that is going to head off a Man who wants to be rejuvenated.

IMMENSE AT FIRST

He pulled himself together on the Second Day and resumed the Merry Clip and there was nothing doing in the Macaulay Line. Home did not get him until the Lights had winked out in the other Places. He would not leave the Stag Club or Mike's non-Volstead place until they began putting the Chairs on the Tables.

For the first two Weeks it was immense, in time, however, it struck him that there was a certain monotony in spending one's Money on the Night Owls and showing up with the Milkman. The Poker Players were into him and he began to suspect that he needed a Guardian.

Like every other man who sends his Wife to a Summer Place, he ended his Hurrah by making a few Resolutions and begging her to come Home.

And she will always believe that he did the Macaulay Act every Evening while she was away. Which is just as well.

TEXACO
TEXACO THUBAN COMPOUND
a liquid lubricant for—
Differentials, Worm Drives, and Transmissions of Automobiles
Texaco Thuban Compound is a heavy, mineral lubricant—not a grease.
It gives the best obtainable lubricating service because it sticks to gear teeth. No grade, speed, nor any other adverse condition will make "Thuban" sling off. It forms a protective cushion of oil which prevents metal contact when the gears mesh, thus reducing friction and increasing power. Notice the decrease of noise when "Thuban" is used. There is no clash and grind when the gears shift.
A very little "Thuban" goes a long way. You need only enough to bathe the gear teeth as they revolve in the power housing. This is because of its adhesive power which keeps a film on them at all times. "Thuban" is a real economy because you must use it sparingly for best results.

CHINESE BANK'S STAND IS GIVEN HIGH APPROVAL

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Oct. 8.—The three memorandums presented to the Chinese Government by the Chinese Banking Group, embodying the resolutions passed with regard to the New Consortium, the Chinese Railways, and reform of Chinese currency, have called forth varying comments from different financial quarters in Peking.

Speaking generally, there seems to be very great confidence in the Association of Chinese Banks by which the memorandums were drawn up. The Chinese Banking Group, it is said, contain many exceedingly able as well as patriotic men, and all the activities of the group thus far have been progressive and constructive. The Railway Car Loan, because of which the Banking Association was formed, has opened a new era in Chinese finance, introducing the principle of supervision of all loans to the Chinese Government by the Chinese bankers themselves. In the Railway Car Loan no money went into the hands of the Government at all, payments to the contracting companies being paid directly by the banks, with the Government allowed only to determine the specifications, and the Banks were secured by the proceeds of the Kin-Han line.

REFORM MUCH OPPOSED

The second achievement of the Group is the Shanghai Mint Loan, which, it is declared, is the first step toward the reformation of the currency of China and the making of the dollar of standard weight and fineness, acceptable all over China. Now the new step of the group in making definite suggestions to the Government is felt to be a continuation of their constructive program.

Financial circles are unable to say whether or not this scheme of currency reform can be put across, or whether the Banking Group is strong enough to dictate to the Chinese Government on the matters of railways and the other knotty points. It seems to be generally conceded that the banks are strong, but the "passive resistance" of the Chinese people, especially the resistence of the small banks and exchange shops and the people who make money out of the present state of chaos, is believed to be sufficient to block many of the steps which must be taken before any real currency reform can take place. It is believed that at the best, with all the groups in the country co-operating it will take a long time and such co-operation can hardly be hoped for.

STAND AGAINST JAPAN

Certain quarters feel that the most significant part of the memorandums is that which advocated the prohibition of the issuance of bank notes by the foreign banks. Others, however, feel that there are many veiled attacks upon the Japanese, and that appearing as it does at the present time, and backed up by the memorandum on the Pacific Conference it has purpose of showing more strongly that the bankers back up the stand taken by the Chinese toward Japan.

Several places are pointed out: the declaration that the Chinese people will not recognise the so-called "special interests" or "spheres of influence," which refers, it is said, to Japan's declarations of special interests in Manchuria and inner-Mongolia, the statement that "no foreigners except technical experts shall be employed, and no discrimination shall be shown if they are qualified as such," which goes against the article of the Twenty One Demands which declares that "the Chinese Government declares that hereafter if foreign advisors or instructors on political, financial, military or police matters are to be employed in South Manchuria, Japanese will be employed first."

ORE AND COAL OF SHANSI OPENED BY NEW HIGHWAY

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Oct. 7.—The district of the Province of Shansi traversed by the Yangchuan-Liaochow road has been aptly called the Pennsylvania of China. Coal seams break out by the roadside and the hills are dotted with iron mines being worked. All of the lime used on the road was dug up and burned on the spot. Fireclay is right there and this makes a smelter for the iron.

The northern country, Pingting, in normal times only grows enough grain to feed half of its population. The additional supply must come from the south or, in time of dire need, by rail to Yangchuan and thence down to Pingtingchow.

All of this country was tied up through lack of communications. The old road was merely a donkey path that scrambled over river beds and over peaks and which in wet weather was very dangerous. The people had never seen a cart much less having used one.

Hence when the famine struck this area, the necessity and desirability of a road running south from Yangchuan to Liaochow was apparent to all. The engineering difficulties were great. Yangchuan is on an elevation of 2,134 feet and in going south a road would have to cross mountain peaks 2,511 ft., 3,128 ft, 4,834 ft., and 5,035 ft. and then drop down to Liachow at 3,688 ft. in addition to which it would be necessary to cross 12 rivers ranging from 200 to 1,900 feet in width.

COST $7,000 A MILE

However, the job was undertaken and put through. Work was started late in February with famine relief labor and by August 10 most of it was finished, there remaining some culvert and bridge construction to be finished. The cost per mile is $7,000 Mex. which includes bridges, culverts, surfacing, food for the laborers, medical and engineering supervision, etc. This being a famine relief proposition, higher wages which includes bridges, culverts, were naturally paid than would have been necessary on a straight contract basis. Then, too, it was often necessary to feed gangs for days before they were strong enough to begin work.

There were constructed 237 bridges and culverts ranging up to 135 feet in length. Over a thousand feet of stone retaining wall was built. 54 dips, twenty feet wide and from that same length to 1,200 feet were paved.

These dips perhaps are one of the most interesting features. It was necessary to arrange for crossings over streams and rivers where bridges were not practicable. Water washes through these for perhaps only a few hours a year, but when it does come it would take an ordinary bridge or culvert away with it. As a result the system of dipping road down to the level of these water courses and then paving it was used.

These dips are gradual and no difficulty was experienced in taking a loaded car over them. When the water comes it rushes over the paving just as it would over the unpaved river bottom and when it drives no damage is done except, perhaps, for some silt which can easily be removed. Through the past rainy season when some bridges and culverts were washed away on this road the dips held out perfectly and it would seem that the plan is a success.

ANGLO-AMERICAN ASSN. HONORS U. S. MINISTER

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Oct. 7.—More than seventy Englishmen and Americans attended today's luncheon given by the Anglo-American Association at the Wagons Lits Hotel in honor of Jacob Gould Schurman, new American Minister to China. Mr. Robert R. Gailey, Chairman of the Association, presided at the luncheon, with Mr. Schurman at his right and Sir Beilby Alston, the British Minister, at his left.

After luncheon Mr. Gailey introduced Sir Alston, who made a brief and very friendly speech. In a twenty-minute address Mr. Schurman laid stress on the great similarity between Britons and Americans. Their language, he said, was the same, their laws were fundamentally the same, their ideas of government and of democracy were very similar, they shared much of their history in common and at their schools they studied many of the same subjects.

Co-operation between Great Britain and America, said Mr. Schurman, would inevitably result to the world's benefit, as only through Anglo-American friendship and co-operation could present conditions throughout the world be stabilised and made to remain stable. Failure of the two countries to work together might easily lead to world-wide disorganisation and chaos, and everything that might possibly lead to a failure of the two nations to co-operate should be borne in mind by the nationals of the two countries and avoided.

Mr. Schurman received a tremendous ovation when he finished his speech. A brief speech by Mr. Gailey, who said that Mr. Schurman's coming to Peking augured well for Anglo-American co-operation, concluded the luncheon.

BANQUET ENDS EASTERN TIMES DEDICATION FETE

Many Guests Visit The New Building On Foochow Road

The three days of festivity marking the dedication of the new building of the Eastern Times, Foochow and Shantung Roads, was concluded last night with a banquet at which students of local schools and colleges were guests. There was a program of speaking and the visitors were conducted over the new plant.

There was a large attendance of foreign and Chinese guests at the new building Sunday night for a banquet which was followed by a program of motion pictures showing scenes in the Pengpu flood district and by dancing. A number of congratulatory addresses were made, the speakers including Mr. Chang Tai-yen, who referred to the international spirit of the assembly and laid stress on the necessity for introducing modern reforms.

The main building of the Eastern Times provides accommodation for the business department and the Eastern Times Publishing Co. on the ground floor, offices for the Managing Director and the Editor-in-Chief, the Staff Library and Dining Room on the first floor, Library of Ancient Books and Paintings, Dining Hall, and Store-room for Buddhistic Classics on the third floor, and a roof garden on which is situated the Chinese pagoda which has been chosen by the Eastern Times for its trade-mark.

The adjoining building contains the press room in which one duplex press and three other presses have been installed, with one more rotary machine to be installed later. There are also separate apartments for storage of paper, type-casting, paper-mat making, photo-engraving, composing room, staff dormitory, and the sales department for handling business in the outports.

The Times Publishing Company specialises among other things in the reproduction of famous Chinese paintings.

A feature of the opening celebrations was the display of old paintings owned by Mr. Dih, the proprietor and publisher.

FINANCE POST IS AT STAKE IN FACTIONAL FIGHT

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Oct. 8.—The Cabinet situation is clearing again and Premier Chin Yun-peng is now regarded as likely to remain in office for some time longer. He is expected to resume his duties within a few days.

Discussions as to the appointment of a finance minister to succeed Pan Fu have thus far produced no definite results, as none of the persons who, in the minds of the Mukden and Chihli factions, are acceptable to every one concerned have consented to accept this portfolio.

At present Chang Chou-ling, the reactionary Director-General of the Tobacco and Wine Administration, who was Vice-Minister of Finance several years ago, is trying to get a chance to fill Pan Fu's shoes. Chang Shou-ling wants the position concurrently with his more lucrative, if less influential, Tobacco and Wine post, and he has the backing of President Hsu, with whom he served in Manchuria in the days of the empire.

Popular and newspaper opposition to Chang Shou-ling is strong, however, and this sentiment is shared by influential foreign circles. It is felt generally that Chang is not big enough to succeed where Pan Fu failed and that the President will have to choose another man more acceptable to the present Cabinet, the militarists and the people.
